Explosion Rocks State Prison Headquarters

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The headquarters of the state's prison system was rocked by a bomb Friday night and radical elements, who warned of the blast, cited the loss of 40 lives at the Attica state prison in taking credit for the explosion.

The warning — a threat telephoned to an Albany newspaper — permitted police to safely evacuate personnel on the 9th floor of a new, 21-story office building occupied by the State Correctional Services Department.

There were no injuries. An estimate of damage was not available, but police said the area was a shambles.

Correction Commissioner Russell G. Oswald, the man responsible for ending the prison rebellion, was at Attica — but administrators were at work and had to be evacuated.

In a letter to a New York City radio station, a group calling itself the Weather Underground said it carried out the attack. In Albany, a woman telephoned the Times-Union, identified herself as a member of the Weatherman faction and said the bomb would go off in 15 minutes.

Police Chief Edward McArdle said the explosion occurred in an air conditioning and heating duct in the ceiling above the men's and women's rest rooms. The wall dividing the rest rooms was blown out, as were other walls adjacent to a stairway, elevator shaft and a corridor.

The Correctional Services Department occupied the 9th and 10th floors of the privately owned building, located a block from the Capitol and across the street from the State Education Department headquarters.

Oswald's personal executive office was on the 9th floor, but on the opposite side of the building.

Tom Connors, a data processing employee at work on the 8th floor, said he heard a loud explosion about 7:25 p.m., followed by what sounded like falling debris.

A spokesman at the Times-Union, the capital city's morning newspaper, said Terry Brown, an editorial clerk, answered the telephone and heard the threat. The female caller gave the location of the building — and the floor — and said the device would explode in 15 minutes in what might have been a deliberate move geared to successful evacuation of persons in the area.

The call lasted about a minute, then police were alerted. Newsmen said the woman's voice appeared to be tape recorded, since she kept talking in a deliberate and unexcited manner despite interruptions to ask questions.

At about the time the explosion occurred, a woman telephoned radio station WBAI-FM in New York City.

The caller identified herself as a member of the Weather Underground and said a signed letter concerning the rioting at Attica would be waiting in a certain telephone booth located in Manhattan.

The letter, bearing symbols of the Weather Underground, said, "tonight we attacked the head offices of the New York State Department of Correction in Albany. Tomorrow, thousands of people will demonstrate in New York and around the country against this racist slaughter.

"We must continue to make the Rockefeller, the Oswalds, the Reagans and the Nixons pay for their crimes."

The letter also said "we only wish we could do more to show the courageous prisoners at Attica, San Quentin and other 20th Century slave ships that they are not alone in their fight for the right to live."

The letter was dated Friday, Sept. 17.

Amnesty Demands Blamed By Wallkill Chief Official

ELMIRA, N.Y. (UPI) — The deputy state correction commissioner credited with squelching a prison uprising at the Auburn Correctional Facility last fall says he believes the assault on Attica state prison, which resulted in 40 deaths, was the "inevitable result" of the prisoners' amnesty demands.

Harold Butler, who recently took command of the Wallkill

Correctional Facility, said Friday the Attica prisoners "couldn't have given in without amnesty—something that couldn't legally be granted."

Butler, who helped quell the Auburn disturbance last November by issuing an ultimatum to Auburn inmates after they seized 45 hostages, said he wouldn't have bargained with the Attica prisoners.

The prison official told the Auburn inmates to "look out the window at our fire power," referring to police.

"We'll gas you until you won't know where your cell block is," he added. "And they gave in. 'I would have gone in right away' at Attica, he said. 'You can't negotiate with a pistol.'"

Referring to concessions given to the rebellious inmates at Attica, he said, "They will take everything you'll give them, but what will happen when you have nothing left to give?"

Butler said, however, he wasn't positive that approach would have worked at Attica.

"You just can't make a judgment," he said. "I'm sure (state Correction Commissioner Russell) Oswald did what he thought was best."

Armed Trio Robs Area Shop

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON Three white males walked into the E-Z Shop store in Lake Katrine Friday night, brandished a small revolver, and fled with $150 cash.

Two hours later, two black males enter the A&P supermarket on Hurley Avenue, slugged a female cashier, and took $28 in small bills out of the register.

Both robberies are under investigation today by city and State Police. Detectives and BCI agents are attempting to determine if the two crimes are related.

The first incident occurred at 5:50 p.m. at the newly-opened E-Z Shop convenience store on Leggs Mills and Neighborhood Roads in Lake Katrine.

males pulled a small revolver out of his pocket, pointed it at a cashier, and demanded the money in the cash register be turned over. The trio netted $150 in cash.

The victims of the stickup said that the three men fled in an early model Volkswagen, tan or white in color, with the right front fender either damaged or removed. Police have launched an intense search for the car.

Troopers also were provided with a detailed description of at least one of the bandits. The man who brandished the gun described as being between 20 and 24 years of age, about six feet tall, with long black hair tied in a pony tail. Police added that the man was unshaven, with about a two-inch growth of hair on his chin. He wore an "old, black, hill-billy type fedora hat."

A second male involved in the holdup was 17 or 18 years old, about 5 feet 8 inches tall with long blonde hair.

The third man was between 20-25 years old, about 5 feet 8 inches in height, with short red hair. He was wearing sun glasses, said police.

At about 7:45 p.m., two black males entered the A & P supermarket on Hurley Avenue. One of the men began to take some money out of one of the cash registers when a female cashier, identified as Vida Berry of West Hurley, attempted to stop him. The holdup man knocked the woman to the floor, grabbed the rest of the money and the pair then fled from the building.

They left in a light colored Volkswagen fastback. Police said the first two letters of the license plate of the car were "VO."

According to the uniformed division of City Police, both suspects wore Afro-style hairdos. One of the men was about six feet tall, while the other was about 5 feet 6 inches in height. Detectives are investigating the incident. Senior BCI investigator Michael Lisman of the Hurley barracks is heading the probe into the E-Z Shop job.

Attica Investigators Continue Interviews

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI) — While some lawyers and doctors on the outside reported inmate stories of threats, shootings and beatings, a congressional committee went back into the Attica Correctional Facility today to interview the convicts.

As the low-keyed investigation by the House Select Committee on Crime continued, so did the controversies which have swirled over the gray-walled maximum security prison where 30 inmates and 10 hostages died in a five-day rebellion quelled Monday.

In New York City, five of the state's highest judges scheduled an unusual Saturday meeting to select members to serve on a citizens' fact-finding commission created by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Five members of the congressional committee, headed by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., committee chairman, arrived from New York City Friday where they held a meeting with Rockefeller.

Pepper said, "They have not put any impediments in the way of our making a full and fair inquiry." He termed the investigation "a private inquiry" which would likely lead to a general hearing on correctional facilities throughout the country. Pepper said his committee spent three hours at the prison Friday afternoon, while officials gave them a chronology of events leading up to the riot, explained their negotiations with the inmates and discussed their final moves.

Picketing at Dutchess County Jail in Poughkeepsie "fizzles out." Story on page 3.

As he left the prison, Pepper said he planned to see some of the inmates today and speak with prison officials.

Four doctors, interviewed separately, said several of the inmates they treated following the rioting told of seeing fellow prisoners shot, and complained of being clubbed with guns and nightsticks.

"The inmates definitely agreed that people lying on the ground (in a posture of surrender) were shot," Dr. Lionel A. Sifontes said. "They said guards ran up and shot people on the ground..."

All four physicians, all from Meyer Memorial Hospital in Buffalo, emphasized that the information they received was yucky, said two inmates told him second hand.

According to Jewish belief, Rosh Hashanah is a Day of Judgment when the divine judge sits upon his seat of justice and decrees the destiny of each human being for the coming year. Following Biblical history, this is the day the world was created 5,732 years ago and thus on the Jewish calendar this begins

Two Down and 11 to Go for Fading Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two down and 11 to go.

That's the way the Dodgers stand today in the National League West, two games behind the division-leading San Francisco Giants.

And there's a third party crowding into contention—the Atlanta Braves.

The Braves knocked off the Dodgers Friday night by a 3-2 score in 11 innings on Hank Aaron's 45th homer and two by Mike Lum (12 and 13) while the Giants were beating the San Diego Padres.

The loss, third straight for the Dodgers, nudged them two games off the pace.

The Braves are in third place in the division only four and a half games behind the Dodgers and six and a half behind the Giants.

The Dodgers and the Braves meet again in a daylight game today, 1:10 p. m., with Bill Singer, 9-16, facing Jim Nash, 9-7.

They wind up the current series with a doubleheader

Sunday but the Dodgers still have three more games to play against the Braves at Atlanta.

Lum, one of the few Hawaiian-born ball players to make it to the big leagues, doesn't think the Braves are through—yet.

"Flying out here," he said, "we talked about beating the Dodgers ... beating them seven straight. Of course, it would be tough, but it could happen."

It took the Braves 11 innings to beat the Dodgers in the series opener and they were right off George Stone, Davis had to hold up at third but both came home when Mota got his deficit. Clutch hitting Manny hit.

Osteen went as far as the eighth inning to give starter Claude Osteen a lead pitch and lofted it into the left field pavilion well over the 360-foot mark. No. 45 matched his personal high of 1962. It was his 37th career homer and his 1,955th run batted in, tops in the National League and behind only Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in the American. He is going at a hot pace—it was his 14th homer in the last 26 games. Lum said hitting two homers against the Dodgers was "my greatest thrill this season." His greatest ever thrill, he said, was hitting three in one game last season.

Walt Alston yanked Osteen as soon as Aaron hit his homer. Lum got his first one off Jim Brewer in the ninth and then tagged Hoyt Wilhelm for the winner in the 11th. The 48-year-old Wilhelm is the oldest pitcher on record to take a loss in the majors ... although all the evidence on Satchel Paige is not yet in.

Mota, a Dodger hero in the recent series sweep against the Giants at Candlestick Park, was hit by a pitch—by Stone—in the sixth inning. His left elbow swelled up and he left the game later. There was no fracture, the Dodgers said.

"We just missed too many opportunities," said Alston. We had the bases loaded with one out and we couldn't score."

The Dodgers blew a chance in the bottom of the ninth after Ves Parker led off with a single, took second on a wild pitch by reliever Cecil Upshaw but was picked off second when he strayed too far toward third.

In the 10th with one out, Bobby Valentine beat out an infield hit and Davis singled to right. Willie Crawford was walked intentionally to load the bases. Pinch-hitter Bill Buckner then popped out foul and Upshaw got Parker on strikes to end that.

In the 11th with one out, Tom Haller singled but Bill Sudakis hit into a game-ending double play started by Aaron at first. Aaron made a fine stop of Sudakis' grounder, stepped on first and threw to second to get Bill Grabarkewitz, pinch-runner for Haller.

In the seventh inning, Aaron pulled off a double play by himself when he snagged Maury Wills' hot liner and doubled Osteen off first.

Upshaw, third Atlanta pitcher, was the winner. His record is now 11-6.

In other NL action, San Francisco topped San Diego 4-3. St. Louis beat Montreal 7-2 and Houston downed Cincinnati 4-1.

In the American League, Vida Blue was lifted after five ineffective innings but the A's managed to nip Oakland in 11 innings, 6-5; Boston topped Washington 10-7; Chicago defeated California 9-4. Detroit swept a doubleheader from Baltimore 9-4 and 3-3, slicing the Orioles' lead to six games and Kansas City edged Minnesota 2-1.

NFL's 'Real Opener' Monday, Not Sunday

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Football League erupts into action Sunday but a lot of fans will be waiting until Monday night for what could be an indication as to how one of the tightest division races might wind up.

That's when Minnesota Vikings rumble into Detroit to collide with the Lions in a nationally televised (ABC, 9 p. m. EDT) key game in the National Conference's Central Division.

The Vikings, strengthened by the addition of quarterback Norm Snead, are expected by many to ride their steamroller ground game and granite defense to a repeat as divisional champs. Gary Cuozzo will start at quarterback against Detroit, however.

The Lions, runner-up a year ago, will be out to avoid having to play catch-up all year and a healthy running back tandem of Mel Farr and Albie Taylor could give them the jump they need.

Sunday's nationally televised (NBC, 4 p. m. EDT), contest has the Joe Namath-less New York Jets going against the Super Bowl champion Colts at Baltimore in an American Conference East clash.

Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank knows he has to go with Al Woodall at quarterback but Don McCafferty of the Colts can choose between Earl Morrall and Johnny Unitas. Morrall will probably be his starter, though, with "U" still not fully healed from an achilles injury.

In other AFC games, Oakland is at New England, Denver hosts Miami, Kansas City visits San Diego and Houston is at Cleveland.

Also in the NFC are Los Angeles at New Orleans, San Francisco at Atlanta, Washington at St. Louis and the New York Giants at Green Bay.

Dallas is at Buffalo, Pittsburgh visits Chicago and Philadelphia journeys to Cincinnati in inter-conference games.

Injuries may play a major role in a number of opening day games.

One of the biggest, of course, is Sonny Jurgensen, Washington's No. 1 quarterback, out for perhaps half the season with a broken shoulder. That means a questionable Billy Kilmer will be guiding the Redskins.

The Chicago Bears will naturally be pinning much of their slim hopes on Gale Sayers. But the brilliant running back has been slow to heal from yet another knee operation.

Roger Staubach had been Coach Tom Landry's pick to start at quarterback for Dallas. But a bruised thigh is likely to keep him out—except for back-up duty—while Craig Morton calls the signals for the Cowboys.

U.S. Leads Ryder Cup

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—United States pro golf stars, sparked by Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, headed into the finale of the 19th Ryder Cup matches today with a 10-6 lead over their British rivals after a day of par-busting by both sides.

In the four afternoon four-ball matches the teams played 70 holes, scoring 30 birdies and only three bogeys. In the four morning matches, they went 64 holes with 25 birdies and five bogeys.

All this was on the tough par-71, 7,272-yard-long Old Warson course, sprinkled with water traps and featuring only one hole less than 200 yards and one of tremendous 620-yard length.

Palmer, who racked up his 11th straight victory in Ryder Cup play and his 20th overall, more than any other player, ever, and Nicklaus staged the classic match of the day against Great Britain's Peter Townsend and Harry Bannerman, who needed no apology for their performance.

The Americans won 1 up when Nicklaus sank a 15-foot putt on the 18th green in such darkness he hardly could see the cup. His birdie meant a seven-under-par 64 for the U.S. pair compared to 65 for the British.

Townsend and Bannerman birdied six of the first seven holes against Nicklaus and Palmer and were only 2 up as the Americans got four birdies in the same stretch. Nicklaus came up with a birdie on the 7 to cut the margin.

Nicklaus hit a wedge on the 14th for a "gimmie" putt to square the match, and then won it on the 18th.

Today among the eight singles pairings for the morning round, there'll be a rematch, Nicklaus vs Townsend and Palmer vs Bannerman.

The Americans began the second day of the competition trailing the British 4½ to 3½ but swept the four morning matches for a 7½ to 3½ lead. All the victories were by 2-and-1 scores. Trevino and Rudolph over O'Connor and Barnes, Beard and J.C. Snead over Coles and John Garner, Palmer and Dickinson over Oosterhuis and Gallagher, and Nicklaus and Litter over Townsend and Bannerman.

But the British charged in the afternoon and Gilchrist-Oosterhuis tripped Trevino-Billy Capser 1 up, while Coles and O'Connor 4 down after four holes, rallied to finish even with Charles Coody and Beard. In the other match Litter and Snead took a 2-and-1 win over Jacklin and Brian Huggitt.

The Coody-Beard and Cole-O'Connor match also was tight. Coles birdied the last three holes of the front nine to even the match and then birdied two of the last three for a deadlock for the round. Each team had a 65 medal score.

Seniors Golf Canceled

WOODSTOCK — The Ulster County Seniors Golf Tournament, scheduled Sunday at Woodstock Country Club, has been canceled for 1971. Seniors president A. J. (Tony) DeLisio of Woodstock announced this morning.

"The condition of the Woodstock course is such that it would be impossible to use electric carts," he explained. "More than half of the field was due to use carts and the course, waterlogged in many places, simply couldn't take it," said DeLisio in announcing the cancellation.

The Woodstock course was heavily hit early in the week — rains and the roaring Sawkill waters destroyed the bridge leading to the first tee.

Bill Collins Fires 274 To Capture State PGA

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI)—Bill Collins of Purchase fired his third and fourth consecutive sub-par rounds Friday to win the $30,000 Marlboro New York State PGA championship by seven strokes.

Collins, a stocky ex-Marine and touring pro at the Braeburn Country Club, carded a 68 and a 70 for a 274 total. He led the field from start to finish and wound up 14 strokes under par overall.

Seven strokes behind was Tom Joyce of Greenwich, Conn., who had final rounds of 70 and 72 after matching Collins' meet record 67 of Thursday.

The six-foot-four Collins had 10 birdies and four bogeys in the final rounds. The top prize of $5,000 was his first win in three tries at the state title.

Collins 43 paired with Julius Boros this year to take second place to Palmer Nicklaus in the PGA team title meet.

Terry Wilcox, a touring pro from Bronxville, N.Y., took third at the state meet with a 286, to win $1,900.

Tied for fourth at par 288 were Sam Uzzetta of Rochester, a former national amateur champ; and Gene Borg of East Norwich; the Long Island opener winner this year.

At 269 were Denny Lyons of Niagara Falls and John Wells of Hewlett Harbor.

At 291: Jerry Steelsmith, Syracuse; Jim Wright, Inwood; Larry Laoretti, Braeburn CC; Bobby Benson, Easton CC; and Don Massengale, White Plains.

At 293: Jerry Pittman, Locust Valley; Ron Letteller, North

Hills; Craig Shankland, Ocean side; Jay Marshall of Gloversville was alone at 294.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 18, 1971

Constitution Week

United States citizenship is a glorious possession representing the dreams and struggles of men for centuries. Our Constitution guarantees priceless freedom to our citizens, sets forth a concept of liberty that has been an inspiration to freedom-loving people everywhere. It is, therefore, most fitting to stress the significance of "Constitution Week" which will be observed through September 23.

During the observance, there will be an opportunity for all citizens, native-born and naturalized, to re-dedicate themselves to the ideals and principles upon which this Nation was founded and built.

This period commemorating the signing of the Constitution on September 17, 1787 should be a time for thoughtful study and consideration of the events that led to the framing of the Constitution and of the means for preserving it from those who would destroy or weaken it.

The underlying purpose of the observance is to strengthen the Nation, which is dedicated to liberty and justice and in which its citizens may live an abundant life, developing to the fullest their individual opportunities for success and rendering a corresponding service to their country.

Welfare of our Boys

Let's we forget . . .

We still have more than 250,000 troops in Vietnam. There are still shots being fired in anger there. But because the war is in the wind-down phase, there are now other dangers there just as deadly as combat itself.

These dangers come under the name of bad morale. Bad morale is always a grave danger when a war is being phased out. Who wants to be "the last man killed?"

One of our nation's greatest experts in the leadership of men under arms is Gen. Bruce Clarke. He recently discussed morale problems in Vietnam and pointed out the symptoms of bad morale—the classic symptoms:

Alertness is lowered; carelessness grows; maintenance of self equipment suffers; black market flourishes; use of drugs and alcohol increases; accidents increase; crime increases, discipline decreases.

All the symptoms of bad morale are now surfacing in varying degrees among our troops in Vietnam. So what can be done about them? Leave it to the Army—they solve the problem or else?

No, the Army cannot solve the problem by itself. You must help—you and you and each of us. And that includes, by all means, men running for office in both parties.

Gen. Clarke lists three reasons morale goes bad for men at arms: 1. The feeling the job they are doing is not important. 2. A feeling they are not doing it well. 3. A feeling that their sacrifices are not appreciated.

Well, obviously, the Army can help on all three. But equally obvious, you and I, all of us, can help on all three, too. Look at those three factors again:

1. . . . When a nation sends any of its young men into a situation where they have to kill or be killed, their job is important. It is important, per se—automatically. And it stays important until the last one of those young men is returned to safety.

2. . . . Are our young men doing well? Yes, but they are being phased out of this war and for a fighting unit to stay sharp when not under any combat pressure is difficult, indeed. At the least, a severe test of leadership.

3. . . . Do we appreciate the sacrifices being made by our men in Vietnam? Their sacrifices include time away from home, time away from their future career, danger of being maimed, danger of being killed. Do we appreciate their sacrifices? Do we let them know we do?

By all that's holy, we owe them our heartfelt support day-in and day-out, no matter our politics, until the last man is brought back to safety.

Three out of every four tons of freight in the United States moves part or all of the way in trucks. Truck companies' revenue was $13.5 billion in 1969. They pay big taxes, but must our highways become, more and more, truckways? Must accidents involving trucks continue to kill and maim? There is an answer: Help for the railways, so their thousands of miles of roadways can be used for freight.

DANGEROUS SEA POWER—Admiral John S. McCain, chief of the U. S. Pacific Command, is particularly concerned about the expansion of Soviet sea power. He states that "the Soviet navy has more than 50 major combat ships and more than 100 submarines, in the Pacific alone. Many are missile equipped and their number will soon exceed the U. S. missile submarine fleet." We can't afford to let down our guard, despite the sweet peace discussions.

SCIENCE STATIONS LUNAR—Apollo 15 astronauts, whose mission was such a gold mine of scientific information, would establish permanent science stations on the moon, manned by a whole group of scientists. The age of the adventurers is past and the era of lunar scientific exploration is here.

'Abracadabra, Back in the Bottle!'

David Lawrence Says Courts May Decide Issues Arising From the Freeze

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Although the wage-price freeze will come to an end on November 13, the litigation that will ensue in the courts concerning many perplexing questions that arose while it was in effect may not be settled for a year or more. Some may even have to be decided by the Supreme Court.

Thus, the Cost of Living Council has ruled that no wage or price increases after November 13 can be applied retroactively to any part of the 90-day freeze period. This prohibition, it was said, covers wage increases even if they had been written into a union contract prior to the August 15 announcement of a wage-price freeze. The same rule would apply to prices, and any rises which had been previously announced to become effective during the 90-day period cannot be made retroactive.

The question is whether any statute gives the executive branch of the government power to nullify action taken prior to the wage-price freeze. Arrangements between employers and their employees after November 13 might raise wages to take into account what had been lost in the 90-day period. To forbid this, the government would have to prove that there was a violation of any law governing wage increase.

Likewise, with respect to prices for goods delivered during the freeze period, there might have been higher costs to the seller which would require some compensation. It might be argued in court that to raise the price after the 90-day period to take care of these was not prohibited by any existing statute.

Questions like these will have to be ironed out with the government, and maybe litigation will be avoided by compromises. Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans is quoted as saying that the freeze "will stand without any exceptions for 90 days and without any retroactive exceptions after the 90 days."

Some of the labor leaders have contended that workers should be allowed to collect in some way after the freeze expires the income they were unable to get while it was in effect. This need not, of course, be specified as a "retroactive" payment but merely an additional pay raise spread over subsequent months.

Undoubtedly there will be many challenging problems and disputes over how transactions that were suspended during the 90-day freeze might be handled not "retroactively" but as "payments made subsequent to the wage-price freeze."

The pay raise for federal employees scheduled for next January has been deferred, and some members of Congress are arguing that this should not be done, as the increase is necessary in order to equalize what workers in the private sectors are receiving. Some Democrats are talking about reversing the President's order. But Mr. Nixon considers the deferral "a major leg of his economic program." There is no certainty that any measure reversing the President on this will get through Congress, as he has submitted also tax-reduction plans which have won wide support.

The chairman of the Civil Service Commission, Robert E. Hampton, has stated in a memorandum that a five-billion-dollar cut in governmental expenditures is needed to offset the revenues which will be lost if the tax-reduction measures in the Nixon program are approved. He said that the deferral of pay increases and the decrease in federal personnel would provide 40 per cent of the five-billion-dollar reduction required. He added that the deferral "demonstrates the good faith of the federal government as a major employer by applying fiscal restraint."

The critics, on the other hand, contend that federal employees are being compelled to make sacrifices which are not expected of the private sector since the raise set for January, now estimated at 5.5 per cent, is a "catch-up" increase which would have brought their pay up to rates that workers outside the government had obtained before the freeze occurred.

The President's program has substantial support in both the House and the Senate, and the leaders seem confident that it will be approved.

U.S. Combat Forces Continue To Dwindle in South Vietnam

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There are evidently no more than four clusters of U.S. combat troops left in South Vietnam. Probably they do not total more than 40,000 of the 215,000 military men we still have there. Over long stretches, there are no American combat forces at all.

Up north in Military Region 1, running down from the so-called demilitarized zone, the heaviest U.S. combat troop concentration stands in continuing threat to any major North Vietnamese activity.

Present there are the U.S. 101st Airborne and the Americal (23rd) Divisions. Nowhere else in South Vietnam do we seem to have combat forces in divisional strength.

Northeast of Saigon, the 11th Armored Squadron of the U.S. First Cavalry forms part of the capital's protective screen. That division's First Brigade is stationed northwest of Saigon for similar purposes.

The "combat" these troops engage in these days is from defensive positions. They are not conducting offensive missions, but are playing "what amounts to a mobile garrison role. We are, in fact, applying the city-and-base enclave tactic which some war critics used to recommend.

Since these forces roam out to intercept enemy marauders when they can, their "combat capability" is deemed essential. The military likes to stress that phrase, inasmuch as the units do not consistently seek combat.

The question for right now: How many of the remaining ground combat troops will be leaving Vietnam by Dec. 1, when the pullout schedule calls for our total forces there to be down to 184,000?

The military will supply no definitive answer. But it is a good wager that some of the 40,000 or more men with "combat capability" will be gone by that deadline. The number of combat pullouts could be sizable, particularly, if, as appears likely, the withdrawal pace allows the President to beat his December goal and reduce our Vietnam forces to less than 180,000.

No one outside the President's inner circle has any firm idea how many more troops he will schedule for withdrawal in the next pullout period after Dec. 1. It could be as few as 50,000 or as many as 100,000. Whatever the established goal, an informed guess would be that probably no more than a fourth of our present ground combat force will be left in Vietnam by the spring deadline, setting the stage for a possible total evacuation soon after.

Jack Anderson Says Jackie's Husband Contributed To Nixon's Campaign Fund

WASHINGTON — We have been able to verify that Aristotle Onassis, king of the jet set, contributed to President Nixon's 1968 campaign.

The golden Greek made the contribution about the time he was marrying Jacqueline Kennedy, the widow of Nixon's 1960 presidential rival.

A trustworthy source, with access to the list of secret contributors to the Nixon campaign, told us a $100,000 donation had been made in the joint name of "Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Onassis."

We could get no official verification of this from the top Republican fund raisers. We searched the public contributor lists in vain for Onassis's name. We also placed transatlantic calls to Onassis's headquarters in Monte Carlo.

Finally, a totally reliable source close to Onassis acknowledged that the shipping tycoon, indeed, had contributed to the Nixon campaign. The source would not divulge the amount of the contribution but said he doubted that Jacqueline had any knowledge of it.

Footnote: Aristotle and Jacqueline Onassis were married on October 20, 1968.

DZU Whitewash

Last week, we identified Lt. Gen. Ngo Dzu, military commander of South Vietnam's central highlands, as "one of the chief heroin traffickers in Southeast Asia." He was responsible, we said, for heroin addiction of American GIs.

We cited classified intelligence reports, giving dates and details, to back up the charges.

Dzu was first linked to the heroin trade by Rep. Robert Steele, R-Conn., in congressional testimony last July. President Thieu immediately ordered an investigation. But we reported last week that it was doubtful Dzu would ever be brought to trial.

While our story was still being set in type, President Thieu promoted Dzu to a three-star general. And two days after the story appeared, Thieu's special investigating team whitewashed Dzu of the drug-running charges.

Nevertheless, here is more sordid evidence of the heroin problems Dzu has created for the U.S.:

Dzu took command of the central highlands a year ago, with war lord powers. His predecessor had kept a tight rein on the heroin peddlers. During the previous 12 months, for example, only two American addicts were admitted to the Army's 67th Evacuation Hospital at Qui Nhon, the provincial capital.

But the heroin started to flow after Dzu took over, and four GIs were admitted in October for heroin addiction. In November, there were 14.

The number of drug admissions in December hit 33, of which 38 were treated for addiction. In January, the hospital handled 51 drug cases, 30 of them heroin related. But by this time, the 67th Evacuation Hospital was turning into a drug sanitarium. So an additional 340 drug victims were treated as outpatients by the hospital.

Corrupt Provost Marshal
The classified reports, which we quoted last week, charged that Dzu had enlisted the South Vietnamese Provost Marshal in Qui Nhon as an accomplice in the dope racket.

One woman was arrested with 76 vials of almost pure heroin outside the American PX. She was hauled off to a South Vietnamese jail. But within two weeks, she was back in front of the PX with her addictive wares.

As the dope traffic increased, the Army's Criminal Investigation Division sent an agent to brief the hospital officers about the heroin problem.

"Heroin can be bought over every compound fence in Qui Nhon," the CID man told the hospital staff. The agent said the CID was getting absolutely no cooperation from Dzu.

Yet Dzu's senior American adviser, John Paul Vann, has now blandly assured the press: "There's no information available to me that in any shape, manner or fashion would substantiate the charges (against Dzu)."

Footnote: The rise in heroin addiction in the central highlands, of course, is only part of the problem Dzu has caused. The classified reports charge he has also been smuggling heroin out of the highlands to GIs elsewhere in Vietnam. He is also responsible, at least indirectly, for some heroin shipments that reach the U.S.

Haven for Waverly

News of the death of Russia's ex-Premier Nikita Krushchev reminded Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., of their marathon, eight-hour discussion back in 1958.

After talking about weightier matters, Krushchev pulled down a roll-up map of the U.S. and asked Humphrey to point out where he lived. Humphrey located Waverly, Minnesota, on the map for the Soviet leader, who promptly announced:

"We will not bomb Waverly."

Henry J. Taylor Says U.S. Stands at Mercy of Russia

Our distracted country now stands at the absolute mercy of the U.S.S.R. — on land, on sea and in the air. And unless we face up to this overwhelming fact, God help the United States.

President Nixon stated in his Labor Day radio talk: "No nation really stands still." Well, we haven't stood still in our nation's defense; behind the scenes we've slipped downhill at toboggan speed, and unless history means nothing the penalty for this is catastrophic.

Take first the air facts: In Brussels recently our NATO chiefs revealed to me that the Soviet is fly-testing an immense new swing-wing supersonic bomber to be operational in 1973. NATO intelligence code-calls it the BACKFIRE. It carries 1,000 mile-range turbofan-powered decoy devices loaded with electronic jammers to confuse radar tracking. BACKFIRE represents a whole new generation in Soviet Strategic Air Force bombers.

The only strategic bomber we have is the slow, subsonic B-52 designed 20 years ago. And our Strategic Air Command's force of 405 B-52s has been gradually reduced to 360.

Congress has long debated the B-52's successor, the B-1. But if the B-1 is built at all it admittedly cannot become operational before 1978.

Missiles? The United States is now the No. 2 nuclear power. The U.S.S.R. is No. 1. The entire free world relies not on our ability to win a nuclear war but on our ability to deter it. This requires nuclear superiority. We had it, it kept the nuclear truce for two decades. But now the respected Institute of Strategic Studies in London finds that as of September 1, 1971, the U.S.S.R. has not only achieved parity in land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles but that its strength in these exceeds ours by 45 per cent.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird confirms this: "In the five years — from 1965 to 1970 — the Soviet has virtually quadrupled its strategic missile force. In that same period the United States reduced its megatonnage more than 40 per cent."

depending heavily on this. Yet, astonishingly, Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard testified to the Senate Arms Control subcommittee behind closed doors on July 13: "We are deliberately retarding a program to improve the accuracy of the MIRV missile pending the outcome of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks."

On land the Red Army has 140 divisions. We have 19. Moreover, even among these 19 many are below full strength and under-equipped to the nearly unbelievable extent that I described in this column on September 3 and quoted Lieut. Gen. William E. DePuy, the Assistant Vice Chief of Staff of the Army: "Aside from Vietnam, we could not put a full-strength, fully-equipped corps in the field."

At sea? The Red Navy patrols the entire Atlantic and Pacific. The latest Soviet maneuver included more than 200 warcraft in these waters alone. The Soviet swimming bear dominates the Norwegian Sea. It blocks the Skagerrak and Kattegat, Sweden's outlets from the Baltic. It is seen heavily in the Indian Ocean and the Persian Gulf and off both coasts of Africa. And we face all this with an aged fleet.

The average U.S. Navy ship is 30 years old. Only one per cent of the Soviet Navy is 20 years old. We are simply not compensating for time's natural disintegration and for the manpower and equipment shortages that plague our old ships.

Meanwhile, the Soviet submarine fleet is now more than three times the size of ours and, on the authority of our worried U.S. Navy nuclear chief, Vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, confirmed by the Central Intelligence Agency, the Soviet is now capable of launching one nuclear submarine a month and by the end of the coming year will have more than the United States.

History's reply is mercilessly exact. America's security has gone by the boards, exactly as France's did in 1939. The Soviet is now beautifully set up to take greater and greater international political risks. One day this truth must burst on our distracted people or we can only fall to our knees, powerless and imploring.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I'm getting worried. The way things are going, we just may get stuck with all this peace inventory!"

JUNIORS STEP OUT — Kingston High School Junior Class officers stride into fall with plans galore. Class leaders are (L-R) Bill Powers, vice president; Debbie Schneider, corresponding secretary; Cathy Snyder, treasurer; Sharon Kelly, recording secretary and Rich Gossett, president. First item on the autumn agenda is a candy sale to raise prom funds. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Fall Flurry Underway

There can be no doubt that school activities are back in full swing.

The Junior Class at Kingston High School this week launched fall plans with announcement of a fund raising event. A candy sale will start Sept. 24 and continue through Oct. 2 in order to raise funds for the Junior Prom and other class expenses.

The Junior class this year will operate a candy and school supply store for all KHS students. The store will be open before first period, all lunch periods and until 3:15 p.m.

Officers of this year's Junior Class are Rich Gossett, president; Bill Powers, vice president; Debbie Schneider, corresponding secretary; Sharon Kelly, recording secretary and Cathy Snyder, treasurer.

In other activities at Kingston High School, Prisma girls are getting ready to kick off their annual magazine subscription drive. Beginning Oct. 8 Prisma members will be visiting home in the area in hopes of raising funds for their annual scholarship presentations.

Each year, Prisma awards scholarships to a number of deserving senior girls. The primary source for the funds is the magazine subscription campaign. Last year the KHS girls' organization helped 10 senior girls attend college by awarding five $250 scholarships; four $500 scholarships and one $100 scholarship.

Prisma hopes to do even better this year but can only succeed through the help of area residents. Those wishing to sign up for new, renewal or gift subscriptions may do so with Prisma. Special offers are acceptable and cost to the subscriber is no more than as if they dealt directly with the publisher. Miss Ann Donovan is faculty advisor and may be contacted for further information.

Onteora Welcomes AFS Students

BOICEVILLE: The Onteora Chapter Student Club, AFS, has several fund the AFS International Scholarship Advisors, and discuss the welcome two of their seniors raising events each year to travel program fully. For further information, interested persons Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 1:30 p.m. and study abroad.

Applications of those selected may contact Mr. Ted Brooks, in the school auditorium, Leena Pynna, AFS International locally, are sent to AFS in West Hurley. Leena Pynna and Bob Zoehf, Finland, guest of her selection for the Summer and field will be available as guest speakers at civic and service Gunther Meyers, Woodstock, School Programs is made. Thursday evening, Sept. 23, at 8 p.m., in Room 116, at Onteora High, a meeting will be held planning their year's program for the applicants and their may contact Mrs. Irving Kalish, parents, and any other inter-Woodstock.

They will be presented to the student body by the Superintendent of Onteora Central Schools, Dr. Frank M. Marlow. Leena will speak of her life and family in Finland and her arrival in the United States. Bob will show slides of the summer in beautiful Switzerland. Bob is the new president of the Student Chapter, Onteora Chapter AFS. The other student officers are: vice-president, Debbie Moscovitz; secretary, Laurie Meyer; treasurer, Joe Vallie. Immediately following the program, applications will be available for interested student applicants who may wish to apply this year. Opportunity will be given to discuss and ask questions.

The AFS International Scholarships Program was begun after the First World War by American Volunteer Ambulance drivers. The high school student program was then developed after World War II. Its purpose is to foster understanding and friendship between people and strengthen the basis for peaceful relationships between nations.

AFS International Scholarships invites students of all racial, religious and economic backgrounds to apply. A student must be at least 16 years old, a junior or a senior at the time of application, in excellent health. He should have studied a foreign language for two years, have good grades but need not be an honor student. He should be eager to learn and have an interest in other people and their cultures.

Shirley McLaine will be doing some traveling, too, in "Shirley's World," in which she plays a photo-journalist who gets Very Involved. Capital "V", capital "I", capital idea

Glen Ford wears the white hat in the Western series "Cade County," where he plays a modern western sheriff—star, cowboy boots, and all. No it's not supposed to be a comedy. And it premieres tomorrow, y'all.

James Garner wears a black cowboy hat in "Nichols—" but he's still the Sheriff. However, he is not the star of the series which premiered Thursday. He plays a supporting role to a 1913 Harley-Davidson motorcycle. The bike just might make the series. Actually, three Harlies are used on the set—an antique 1912 Harley-Davidson is used as a stand-in in case of breakdown, and there is also a 1970 Montesa racing bike made to look like an old Harley-Davidson for scenes where the chopper has to really do some fast moving. What is used to replace Garner in scenes calling for real moving has not been publicized—but the whole series just might be one of the most moving shows this season.

Also set before 1915 is "Bercats," starring Rod Taylor and Denis Cole, which premiered Wednesday. All about these two young fellers out in the southwest who take on tough assignments in the pursuit of justice—and heaven help justice if they ever catch her . . .

About a decade later and on the other side of the law are "The Chicago Teddy Bears" which began last night. Speakeasies, flivers, and real, live, old-time movie stars. Nostalgia you can slice with a tommygun.

Anthony Quinn makes his TV debut in "The Man and the City" which premiered Wednesday. He gets Very Involved too—with ecology, the fight for better environment, and probably at some point in the series, the pursuit of justice.

George Kennedy premiered Tuesday in "Sarge," which seems determined to touch all bases. There's this priest, y'see, who used to be a marine, and then he was a merchant seaman, and then he became a cop, but his wife was killed as a result of his police work so he . . .

Those with a taste for the occult who weren't sated by "Twilight Zone" will be interested in Rod Serling's "Night Gallery" which will show Wednesday nights. Two or three stories will be told during each hour-long segment, with Serling acting as host narrator.

Bobby Sherman fans who are old enough to stay up until 8 tonight can watch their hero in his series, a situation comedy, called "Gettin' Together." Just the thought of Bobby Sherman starrin' in "Gettin' Together" has us smiling, so the show ought to be very funny.

Old shows, such as "Laugh-In" will have new stars, too, and some of the television standards will have been updated — on the "Flintstones," for instance, Pebbles and Bamm-Bamm will now be teenagers. If they remain toddlers on the comics page, the result ought to be rather confusing—which won't be a first for the media of America.

Youth in the News

The exodus from home to campus is in full swing and Youth in the News has received numerous reports of area students matriculating at colleges around the country.

Mrs. Frank Peller of 50 Janet Street, Kingston recently arrived at Coral Gables, Fla. where he will attend the University of Miami.

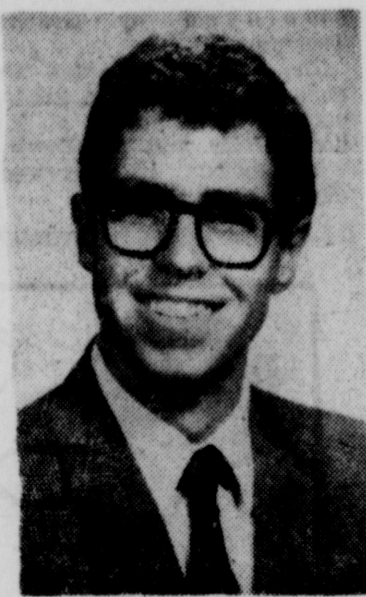

Richard is a 1967 graduate of Kingston High School and received a Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering at Rutgers University this past June. For two years at Rutgers, he was a member of the university's Marching Band. He was a member of Tau Beta Pi and Eta Kappa Nu, engineering honor societies.

On graduation day he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserves.

At the University of Miami where he was awarded a research assistantship, he will be assisting in research in underwater acoustics while working toward a master's degree in oceanography.

In cooler climes, James G. Levins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Levins of Ridge Road, Shokan, is enrolled as a freshman at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt.

Word has been received that

RICHARD PELLER

Caroline S. Robertaccio of RD 1, Box 205, Stone Ridge recently enrolled as a freshman at Gettysburg College, a 139 year old co-educational liberal arts institution in historic Gettysburg, Pa.

Two June graduates of Ulster County Community College are attending the new State University of New York College at Purchase this fall.

They are Kevin Fischang, RD 3, Box 456, Saugerties and Frederick R. Steuding of Hurley. Both received Associate in Arts degrees at UCC.

Fischang, a Kingston High School graduate, majored in psychology and English at UCC and will continue that major concentration at Purchase. He was a member of college chorus and biology club.

Steuding, also a Kingston High School graduate majored in visual arts at UCC and will study aesthetics and anthropology at Purchase.

The college at Purchase is a liberal arts college comprising a College of Letters and Science and a professional school of the arts. Purchase is admitting its first regular students this September and limiting registration to 200 transfer students at the junior level. The new college is very selective in admitting transfers and it is considered an outstanding achievement that the two UCC graduates were admitted there.

recorded by two Kingston students last year at Hartt College of Music, University of Hartford, according to a college announcement made this week. They are Bruce D. Abrams of 124 Wall Street and Peter J. Mancuso of 171 West Chester Street, both of whom were among 131 students on the 3, Box 456, Saugerties and dean's list for the second semester.

Third in Series

Ecology in England

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the third in a series written exclusively for The Freeman by Jeanne Gaffney of Kingston. Miss Gaffney spent the summer in Europe attending the Isman Summer School in Switzerland, participating in British Environmental Work Camp and attending a conference of the Young Communist League of Europe in Budapest. This week's article deals with the exciting archaeological and environmental work in England.

Every year when the topic of class trip is brought up, somebody says "No more museum!" It's true that it seems as though many of the displays have little meaning, especially after you have visited two on the same day. Usually your thoughts are about your feet which refuse to accept the fact that history is more important than their welfare.

Things appear slightly different when you are personally involved with uncovering a bit of history. At least that's how it appeared to a group of international students at the United Nations Students Association Workcamp in group worked on was an environmental project involving refencing a section of English moors. In an attempt to restore the ecological balance to a specific area, it was necessary to fence it off so that roaming cattle, sheep or ponies could not get in. In the moor of lower England, most areas are not fenced at all and as a result, the animals wander at will, much to the dismay of motorists.

In the evenings the group which alternated between sites participated in an environmental seminar. After working during the day, it makes the whole subject of environment and ecology very close to home. vironmental project involving refencing a section of English moors. In an attempt to restore the ecological balance to a specific area, it was necessary to fence it off so that roaming cattle, sheep or ponies could not get in. In the moor of lower England, most areas are not fenced at all and as a result, the animals wander at will, much to the dismay of motorists.

If you've grown fond of the summer re-runs (after the third time around, those shows seem like old friends—and some of them did show three times last year) we've got bad news for you. They're being discontinued, temporarily at least for the fall premieres.

With all the new talent arriving in Hollywood, or wherever they're making movies these days, the old talent had to go somewhere. You'll find out where the first time you turn on the television. Faces formerly seen only on guest shows and the Late Movies will be occupying prime time this year—possibly the start of a trend. Faces from the films have been showing up on the telly for years, but not in the numbers they are this year. Usually the route went the other way, with television faces like Clint Eastwood and Goldie Hawn making it in films.

The accent on this year's new shows seem to be Middle American Adventure with the accent on law enforcement. (Well—we couldn't expect accent on breaking the law could we?) Particularly Western law enforcement. Most of the cowboy hats this year will be on action, not singing, shows.

Remember a while back when a segment of "Laugh In" starring Tony Curtis got the temporary axe after he was accused of possessing grass? And remember who played the Boston Strangler? That's right, Tony Curtis. Well, if you have the telly turned to right station tonight at 10:00 you'll see Tony on the right side of the law apparently once again acceptable to the home screen. In "The Persuaders" with Roger Moore, he plays a self-made millionaire given to round-the-world junkies in defense of justice.

Shirley McLaine will be doing some traveling, too, in "Shirley's World," in which she plays a photo-journalist who gets Very Involved. Capital "V", capital "I", capital idea

Glen Ford wears the white hat in the Western series "Cade County," where he plays a modern western sheriff—star, cowboy boots, and all. No it's not supposed to be a comedy. And it premieres tomorrow, y'all.

James Garner wears a black cowboy hat in "Nichols—" but he's still the Sheriff. However, he is not the star of the series which premiered Thursday. He plays a supporting role to a 1913 Harley-Davidson motorcycle. The bike just might make the series. Actually, three Harlies are used on the set—an antique 1912 Harley-Davidson is used as a stand-in in case of breakdown, and there is also a 1970 Montesa racing bike made to look like an old Harley-Davidson for scenes where the chopper has to really do some fast moving. What is used to replace Garner in scenes calling for real moving has not been publicized—but the whole series just might be one of the most moving shows this season.

Also set before 1915 is "Bercats," starring Rod Taylor and Denis Cole, which premiered Wednesday. All about these two young fellers out in the southwest who take on tough assignments in the pursuit of justice—and heaven help justice if they ever catch her . . .

About a decade later and on the other side of the law are "The Chicago Teddy Bears" which began last night. Speakeasies, flivers, and real, live, old-time movie stars. Nostalgia you can slice with a tommygun.

Anthony Quinn makes his TV debut in "The Man and the City" which premiered Wednesday. He gets Very Involved too—with ecology, the fight for better environment, and probably at some point in the series, the pursuit of justice.

George Kennedy premiered Tuesday in "Sarge," which seems determined to touch all bases. There's this priest, y'see, who used to be a marine, and then he was a merchant seaman, and then he became a cop, but his wife was killed as a result of his police work so he . . .

Those with a taste for the occult who weren't sated by "Twilight Zone" will be interested in Rod Serling's "Night Gallery" which will show Wednesday nights. Two or three stories will be told during each hour-long segment, with Serling acting as host narrator.

Bobby Sherman fans who are old enough to stay up until 8 tonight can watch their hero in his series, a situation comedy, called "Gettin' Together." Just the thought of Bobby Sherman starrin' in "Gettin' Together" has us smiling, so the show ought to be very funny.

Old shows, such as "Laugh-In" will have new stars, too, and some of the television standards will have been updated — on the "Flintstones," for instance, Pebbles and Bamm-Bamm will now be teenagers. If they remain toddlers on the comics page, the result ought to be rather confusing—which won't be a first for the media of America.

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged Here

Stephano-DeCicco

Mr. and Mrs. John McManus, Route 28, Mt. Tremper, announced the marriage of her daughter, JoAnn Stephano, Route 5, Box 372A, Kingston, to Anthony DeCicco, son of Mr. and Mrs. William DeCicco, 200 Lincoln Street, Kingston this week. The bride is also the daughter of the late Joseph Stephano Jr.

The double ring ceremony took place in Presentation Church, Port Ewen and the Rev. Father Murphy officiated. Theodore Riccoboni was organist and Nadine Woinoski sang traditional wedding selections. Vases of white gladioli decorated the altar and white bows marked the family pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her stepfather, John McManus. She wore a gown of silk organza in ivory. The empire waist was trimmed with Venice lace and featured a large front bow of satin with long streamers. Bishop sleeves were cuffed with wide Venice lace and trimmed the detachable chapel length train. Her silk illusion cathedral length veil was held by a large horsehair hat with a rippled brim. She carried a cascade of white roses.

The sister of the bride, Miss Donna Stephano, Route 5, Box 372A, Kingston, served as maid of honor in an empire gown of apricot satin peau. The bodice featured a brown bolero effect of Venice lace and topped an A-line skirt. Venice lace also trimmed the cuffs of the full sleeves. A picture hat of matching color with daisy trim complemented her outfit and she carried a colonial bouquet of gladioli.

Attendants were Miss Cindy Curlin, Smith Avenue, Kingston; Mrs. Edward DeCicco, Flatbush Road, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. Richard Cantwell and Mrs. Jon Haight sister of the bridegroom, Rhinebeck. Their pink, lilac, brown and aqua gowns, respectively, were identical in styling to the maid of honor's and they wore picture hats in colors to match their gowns. They also carried colonial bouquets of gladioli.

Miss Linda Schryver, cousin of the bride, was flower girl in an apricot and cocoa gown. She carried a white basket of assorted color gladioli.

Edward DeCicco served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Michael Bodnar, Mt. Tremper; Sam DeCicco, Lincoln Street, brother of the bridegroom; Richard Cantwell, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Flatbush Road; and Jon Haight, Rhinebeck. Richie Cantwell Jr., nephew of the bridegroom, Flatbush Road, served as ringbearer.

A reception for 157 guests was held at S.R.S. Resort. Howard Rust provided the entertainment.

For her traveling ensemble to Ocean City, Md., the bride selected a navy and maroon two piece couture suit and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. DeCicco is a graduate of Kingston High School and is attending her second year at Ulster County Community College. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School and U.C.C.C., is employed as a public accountant by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., Sawkill Road.

The couple will reside at Sleightsburg.

DeMicco-Mooney

Miss Bonita DeMicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominich P. DeMicco, Fairdale Avenue, Lake Katrine, became the bride of Joseph John Mooney, son of Thomas Mooney, 423 Delaware Avenue, Kingston, on Sunday, Sept. 5 in St. Mary's Church, Kingston. The Rev. Edward Farrelly officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccoboni, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Gold altar vases were filled with apricot, avocado and white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of white peau de soie. The gown featured a panel of re-embroidered Alencon lace at the bodice and skirt and was fashioned with a high neckline and bishop sleeves.

The cathedral length train fell from a natural waistline. A pearl trimmed headpiece, accented with appliques of peau de Ange lace held her cathedral length mantilla. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and heather leaf.

Miss Beverly Boyce of 89 Harwich Street, Kingston, served as maid of honor. Attendants were Valerie Evers, 194 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston; Linda Ruefs, Tinker Street, Woodstock; Linda Sharpe, Saugerties; Jean-Marie Perry, Yeoman Street, Kingston. They were attired in Victorian avocado and apricot wallpaper print gowns. The honor attendant's gown was accented with avocado smoking at the waist, neck and cuffs and she wore an avocado picture hat.

The other attendants' gowns were trimmed with apricot smoking and wore apricot picture hats.

Miss Boyce carried a fireside basket filled with apricot and avocado pompons, miniature carnations and roses, trimmed with avocado ribbons. The attendants carried fireside baskets filled with apricot and avocado pompons and miniature carnations, accented with apricot ribbons.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

Convenience foods that save time in the kitchen often, but not always, cost more than similar foods prepared from individual ingredients, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

Commercially prepared dinners cost considerably more than the home-prepared. A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study showed the cost to be from 25 per cent higher for a beef dinner to 110 per cent higher for a fried chicken dinner.

But the government study of the cost of bakery products showed that the purchased product is sometimes no more expensive than the homemade. For example, ready-to-eat brownies and sugar cookies cost about the same to buy as to make at home. Canned, chilled biscuits, ready-to-bake, cost only about one-third more than the homemade. But frozen waffles, to be heated in the toaster, were three times more costly than homemade waffles.

Careful shoppers do well to compare the cost of buying convenience foods with similar foods prepared at home.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

Trio Are Undecided

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with a guy I'll call Ted for over two years. We plan to get married—maybe next year.

We go with another couple I'll call Pete and Mary. I used to have a big crush on Pete, but I thought it was all over it until Mary left town. Ted was also gone. Pete came over, and we sure dug each other. Things got out of hand and we made another date.

I still love Ted, but I've got a physical attraction for Pete, who says he loves Mary but doesn't want to quit seeing me.

I don't love Pete; I just want to see how it is with other guys. Now I'm so mixed up I don't know what to do. If Ted and I keep going around with Pete and Mary, I am afraid my guilty conscience will give me away. And if I try to avoid them, Ted will get suspicious.

I am so sorry I let this happen, but I really don't want to end it. Please help me. SAD BUT GLAD

DEAR SAD: You're lucky. You have proven to yourself that you aren't ready to confine yourself to one fellow. You have a lot of growing up to do. Quit sneaking around with Pete and Ted and you'd like to date others.

DEAR ABBY: My husband never liked my first name so when he started dating he'd call me "Sweet Stuff." After we were married he started calling me "Mamma." Now, 10 years later, he doesn't call me anything.

When we are out in company he refers to me as "Her" and "She." When he wants to get my attention he says, "Hey, you." If I say, "Who?"—he says, "You!"

Our friends have begun to notice it, and this bothers me. Even a dog has a name. Any suggestions?

"HEY, YOU" IN BIRMINGHAM

DEAR "HEY": If you've gone from "Sweet Stuff" to "Hey, You" in 10 years, your stock has slipped to a precarious low. Let him know that you're bothered, and would like a little consideration. And tell him if he doesn't like your real name, to go back to "Sweet Stuff."

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote in to say that whenever they invited a guest preacher to give the sermon at their church they allowed him exactly one hour, after which there was an automatic ringing of chimes. And if the preacher wasn't finished, the chimes would drown out his voice, so he was finished whether he liked it or not.

And you remarked, "I'll wager that the church had a full house every Sunday!"

Abby, we are Seventh Day Baptist Christians and our sabbath is on Saturday—not Sunday. So in the future please show some respect for our sabbath, too.

OFFENDED IN ALABAMA

DEAR OFFENDED: No offense intended to you or to others whose sabbath is on Saturday. But my correspondent specified a particular church in Brook, Ind., and their sabbath is on Sunday.

DEAR ABBY: Since when is it such a great idea to inform a guest preacher that he has exactly one hour in which to preach his sermon, and at the end of the hour to start ringing chimes to drown him out whether he's finished or not?

I think we ought to give the services back to the Lord, since it is Him we are supposed to be worshipping at these services. Then we can let Him decide how long we should worship right on thru the chimes.

Wouldn't it be a shame if Christ returned after the Chimes had rung and found that everybody had gone home?

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE
All Swallowed Up!

Dear Heloise:
The following hint is submitted for those who have difficulty "keeping up" in this world of high-geared living. I inadvertently discover that when necessity demands that I take a protective coating medication for my stomach discomfort, I should WET the spoon first.

If I pour the medication into a wet spoon, it can be taken with great ease, and besides that, it's much easier to wash the spoon afterward.

SHIRLEY HEIN
Shirley, forgive me please, but when I first read your letter I was just a bit skeptical but then I decided that maybe I had been just a mite hasty in my judgment and gave it a try.

The reason for the experiment was that the above mentioned medication is one that is certainly no stranger in this house. And one of my pet peeves is that telltale white goop that always seems to remain on the spoon no matter how hard I scrub.

Well, accept my apologies, pretty please, because I kinda got carried away when I tested it.

I tried it first on a plastic spoon, couldn't believe it, then on a silver spoon and also a stainless steel one — and, gal, you were RIGHT! You made a believer of me. That little hint is worth its weight in gold and so are you.

HELOISE

DEAR FOLKS: Here is an especially good hint for those of you who use flashlights at night, and, if you don't, let me recommend them highly.

Each of you should always keep a flashlight near your bed. Whether you sleep alone, or in a room with someone, it surely can keep you from stumbling when walking across the floor during the night.

If you sleep in a room with someone, or your child is sick, just place the flashlight on the floor with the light pointed towards the ceiling and that will make a very soft glow. If you put it on your bedside table, it makes a strong light because it's closer to the ceiling.

If you lay it on the floor sideways, it gives an entirely different kind of light.

Why don't you try this when you go "beddy-bye" tonight, just for fun? Besides that, it won't hurt to test those batteries. Heaven knows how long they've been in that flashlight, right? You never know when you all need 'em in an emergency.

The softness of the flashlight when placed on the floor is nothing like that bedside table lamp. I think you're in for a big surprise.

PAW Schedules Play Reading for Tuesday

Performing Arts of Woodstock will be holding its monthly play reading at Christ Lutheran Church, 28 Mill Hill Road, Woodstock at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 21.

The play to be read is "Saved" by Edward Bond, a contemporary British playwright. Mr. Bond's play deals with the brutalizing effect of poverty on working class English people, but its application is universal. The play was banned in England for some time because of its graphic description of the squalor and brutality of life lived in poverty both material and spiritual. Sir Laurence Olivier said of it "the extreme horror... has run away with most of the dramatic criticism and blinded it to the rare qualities of the play, which from time to time achieves astonishing heights of dramatic prowess." Mr. Bond, himself, calls the play optimistic since the main character, Len, manages to transcend the horror emptiness of the life around him.

Gleason Wants Out of Pact

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—The world could use a few laughs these days and Jackie Gleason, who once provided lots of them, broods here in luxury and boredom about his chances of breaking the contract he believes stands between him and a return to television.

There is a hint of desperation in this belief, the knowledge that the memory of the public is short and even a contract that pays a man $100,000 a year for doing nothing can be a golden noose strangling a great show business career.

Gleason taped his last program for CBS-TV in February, 1969. The network dropped his show for the 1970 season for a number of reasons ranging from "demographics" — he wasn't pulling the age group that advertisers wanted at that moment — to the fact the program cost had escalated to where it was running at a loss.

"It looks like we might have to go to court," Jackie said. "I might come to that. I can't sit around here brooding and eating — I'm already 20 pounds overweight. Business is all right in its place — I've done my part here (including setting up a $260,000 Gleason-Innervary Golf Tournament for next February, top purse of the year).

"NBC and ABC have both been down with offers that I can't take because of the CBS contract. And Alex Cohen (the Broadway producer) has something I'd really like to do. He wants me to play P. T. Barnum in a six-part television series, like the British just did with the six wives of Henry VIII."

Gleason said he had turned down offers of Broadway musicals because "doing the same thing every night would drive me nuts."

Is there anything he would like to do particularly on TV? "I once did a show 'You're the Picture,'" he said, "and it was so bad I don't know how CBS let me do it. I asked them if I could apologize. The next week I went out and sat in a chair and talked to the audience. It went over fine. That's what I'd like to do. And I'd like to do it alone though. If there was some spectacular guy who hadn't been kicked around on the talk shows I might get him on with me."

He showed brief interests when he heard Merv Griffin might be giving up his CBS-TV talk show. But this, too, is the sort of five-night a week grind he would rather avoid and he thinks all talk shows are now on dangerous ground because the same guests work all of them all the time.

Proper Play After Lead

Today's hand is taken from an article by Ray Brown in the ACBL Bulletin. It is entitled "Test Your Third Hand Play." Only the North and East hands were shown. West opens the king of clubs. The deuce is played from dummy. Which card do you play?

Ray says, "Play the three. You aren't going to ruff a club and you do want a shift to either red suit. A heart shift leads to certain defeat, while a diamond shift will beat the hand unless declarer comes up with a very unusual play."

The club continuation does make things easy for South. He lets it ride to his jack, draws two rounds of trumps and eventually ruffs his fourth club in dummy.

The play to make the contract after a diamond shift is very interesting. South must cash just one top trump. Then he leads his jack of clubs. West can't do better than to play his queen. Dummy's ace wins the trick and when the eight-spot drops from the East hand, South's nine and seven are equals. He leads a third club to force West's 10. Later on, he gets to discard one of dummy's hearts on his last club

Deliberations May Start Next Week

Ruling by Judge Clears Medina of Top Charge

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — A judge's ruling has left Capt. Ernest L. Medina facing only one charge of premeditated murder—that of shooting a woman in a rice paddy at My Lai.

The judge, Col. Kenneth Howard, on Friday reduced the premeditated murder charge against Medina in the deaths of 100 Vietnamese civilians to involuntary manslaughter.

He also granted a defense motion for a directed acquittal of murder in the death of a young boy. The Army had alleged that Medina ordered the boy shot during an infantry assault on My Lai in 1968. A witness testified he shot the boy and Medina gave no such order.

Howard let stand the charge of assault against Medina, which accuses him of firing two shots over the head of a Viet Cong suspect during an interrogation.

The judge's action left for the jury to begin deliberating, probably by the middle of next week, the one charge of premeditated murder, involuntary manslaughter in the deaths of the 100 villagers and the assault.

Medina would face life imprisonment if convicted of murder. Medina testified he shot the woman because he saw her move and thought she had a weapon.

Involuntary manslaughter carries a maximum penalty of three years. The judge said that charge makes it possible for the jury to find Medina guilty of even a lesser charge, negligent homicide, which carries a one-year sentence.

Medina, 35, commander of Charlie Company when it swept through My Lai in March 1968, had been charged with premeditated murder of "not less than 100" on the theory that he failed to intervene when his troops were shooting.

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey had asked for dismissal of all charges against Medina.

He argued that the government had failed to prove that the captain had knowledge that his men were killing My Lai civilians or that he encouraged them to do so by shooting the woman and ordering the child shot.

Howard said later he reduced the charge of responsibility for 100 deaths because the government had failed to prove "that Capt. Medina intended for these people to be killed."

Medina showed no sign of emotion at the judge's ruling. He and his wife Barbara declined comment, but both were smiling as they stood outside the courtroom in a heavy rain.

The court was recessed until at least Tuesday when the judge plans to discuss his charge to the jury with defense and government lawyers.

City Beat

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

THE POLITICAL pace should pick up considerably now that the primaries are out of the way. Election Day, believe it or not, is only six weeks from Tuesday.

Tom Davitt won a surprisingly easy victory in the GOP runoff in the Seventh Ward, defeating Dick Cahill by a 95 to 33 count, almost three to one. Significantly, in that ward, almost 50 per cent of the eligible voters turned out. By comparison, only 20 per cent of the eligible Republican voters turned out for the 1969 mayoral primary, a hotly contested affair between Jim Tyrrell, John Ray Mayone and Cliff Bunting.

Davitt issued no public statements which reminds us of a private statement made to us shortly after the 1969 elections. "You don't win elections in the newspapers around here," the guy said. "It helps, but organization wins elections."

Davitt, we are told, had the organization, workers in almost every section of the ward. They got the vote out and Davitt in.

Over in the 13th Ward Conservative race, Bernie Sims, the incumbent Republican Conservative, faced an uphill numerical battle against his challenger, Mrs. Edna Sperling, and didn't quite make it, losing 7-3.

Mrs. Sperling had a built-in advantage with four members of her own family being registered Conservatives. In addition, there was Lucy Freer, an enrolled Conservative and anti-fluoridationist.

So the vote was 0-5 against Sims before he even started and as it turned out, only 12 of 14 eligible people voted. Sims would have needed six of the remaining seven to even get a tie out of it. He got only five.

In all likelihood what it means is that Sims, running only on the Republican ticket, will have a tough time defeating Bill Bodenweber, the Democrat-Liberal candidate against him. The Conservative nomination was worth 100 votes two years ago and put Sims over the top.

But then, into every rainy day a little sun must fall. All is not well with the Democrats in that ward, we are told. The story is incomplete, but it seems that Joe Stenson, the Democratic vice-chairman, and Joe Koenig, the mayor's father, and the Democratic leader of the ward, had a little falling out concerning the circulation of Bodenweber's petitions. Stenson, we are told, went around and got Bodenweber's nominating petitions signed and Koenig didn't know about it. Ka-boom.

Stenson resigned in late August but under the Democratic party rules, a resignation "lays on the table" for 30 days in the hope that the person will change his mind. This one, we are told, won't.

The campaigns, despite a notable lack of publicity, are slowly getting off the ground. Frank Koenig and Bobby Gallo, his running mate, two guys who never miss a trick, stole a march on the Republicans about a month ago.

Koenig and Gallo, it seems, sent a letter to some 1,500 newly eligible voters in the 18-20 year old bracket notifying them that they were now eligible to vote, offering their help and asking the support of the youths.

The whole thing was printed up on mayoral stationery (impressive . . . someone at city hall knows I'm alive!) with the note on the bottom that the printing and mailing expenses were borne by the authors.

There has been some grumbling among the Republicans about the blatant pitch for the youth vote. Some of it might be jealousy over a missed opportunity.

DEMO CONVENTION—The Democrats will meet in convention tonight for their semi-annual blood-letting: the election of a new county chairman.

Jim McCordle, who's been to the well before, is pitted against Frank Adams from Kingston who announced about six weeks ago. The betting seems to be on McCordle who has been working for this thing for many months, if you don't count the other times he ran.

The theory seems to be that in order for Adams to have any real chance of winning he would have to carry the city . . . solid. Adams hasn't.

S. Viets Sweep Through Swamps

SAIGON (AP) — South Viet rocket-firing U.S. helicopter name command reported to name troops swept through gunships and killed 60 North day. The reports of Friday's battle strikes. More than 100 weapons were reported captured. The official count put Saigon claimed killed by South Viet losses at 47 troops killed and 97 wounded, the government's heaviest losses in 3½ months.

The fighting in the U Minh, about 145 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta near the Gulf of Siam, erupted Wednesday when units of the South Vietnamese 21st Infantry Division launched the latest of a series of "spoiling operations" against enemy bases.

The sweep began after defectors told allied intelligence officers that North Vietnamese forces were preparing for major assaults on government fire bases and positions in a show of strength before the South Vietnamese presidential election Oct. 3.

All of the South Vietnamese casualties reported came from enemy attacks Thursday on one fire base and the positions of an infantry company and a reconnaissance company.

Also in the Mekong Delta, South Vietnamese forces claimed killing 18 enemy in another clash 45 miles southwest of Saigon. Two South Vietnamese soldiers were reported wounded.

U.S. B-52 bombers kept up their heavy raids along the demilitarized zone with 15 more strikes against suspected North Vietnamese troop positions, anti-aircraft sites and storage areas.

McGovern Sticks to Statement

TOKYO (UPI) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., today repudiating the senator's version of talks he had had with the Communists Thursday point peace proposal, including a demand for South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's replacement, must be considered in its entirety.

The POW and withdrawal issues make up two of the Communists' seven-point negotiating package.

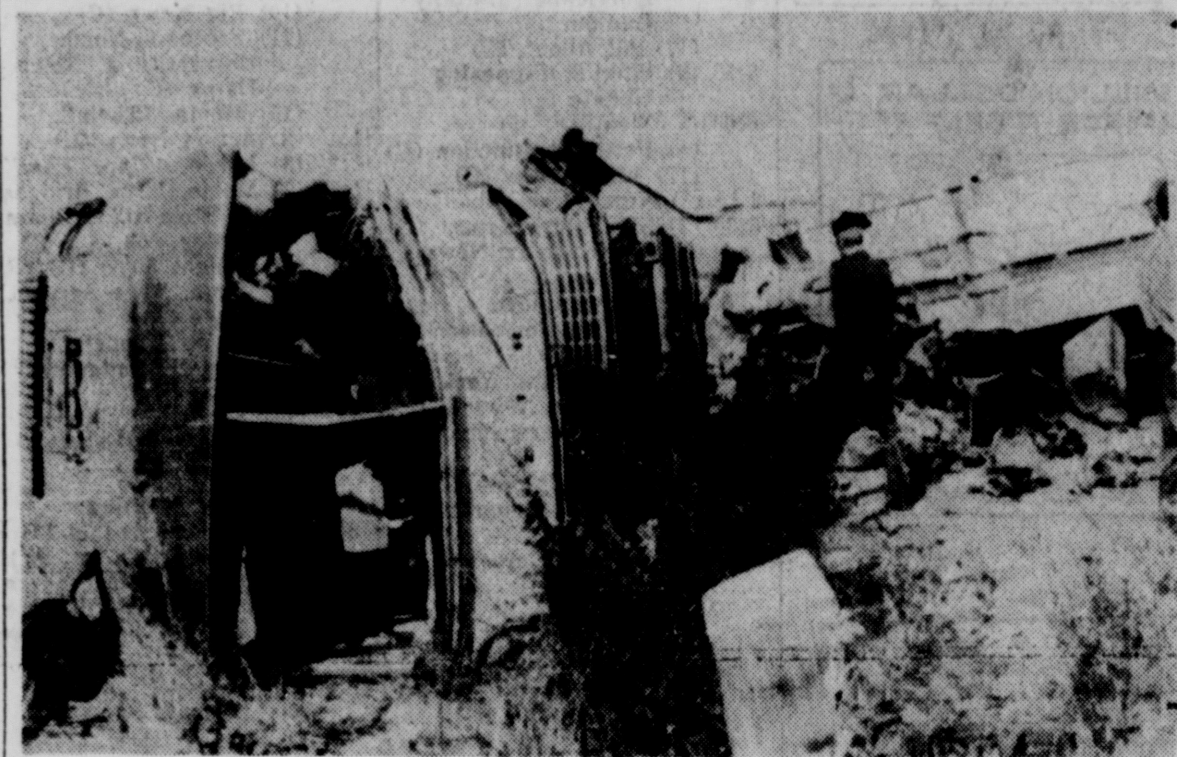

But in Tokyo today McGovern said the discrepancy between the Communists' public and private positions was due to "semantics" and their conviction that the withdrawal of American troops would mean that Thieu's administration would collapse without the American military support.

"They had to issue that statement," McGovern told UPI.

"They have to maintain their opposition against Thieu, especially with the elections coming up."

"But they are convinced that if a date is set and the withdrawal is begun that Thieu will be replaced by indigenous forces within South Vietnam," he said, "and at the same time, we could expect a release of American POWs on a proportional basis."

McGovern, the only announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, in Tokyo for a four-day visit and to meet with Japanese financial leaders, also said today that the United States should immediately drop its 10 per cent surcharge on imports and consider the possibility of devaluing the dollar.

COLLISION IN SPAIN—Emergency workers view wreckage of bus and truck which collided near Valdepenas, Spain, Friday, killing 17 of the Canadian tourists aboard the bus. The driver of the truck was also killed, and 10 other persons injured, two critically. Wage-Price Extension: Panel Sets Hearing Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, says his panel will begin hearings Sept. 27 on extending the wage-price control act, the authority by which President Nixon ordered the 90-day wage-price freeze.

Speaking to newsmen after 23 leaders of the House and Senate met with Nixon for two hours Friday on the administration's new economic plan, Patman said some members of Congress have mentioned the possibility of extending the act from April 30, 1972, to Jan. 1, 1973.

No mention was made of specific proposals discussed at the meeting, but Patman said he hoped the administration would come up early with any legislative proposals it has in mind.

"We intend to call before the committee the various administration officials who have been charged with the responsibility of administering this program

Weber said in an interview none of the cases involve large U.S. corporations.

In other developments: —The council said medical fees for individual services, including those under Medicare, are frozen under the current guidelines. The council said Medicare payments also cannot increase when based on payment schedules because schedules are considered to be prices. It also ruled wages paid to workers transferred to a new location may be paid up to the ceiling that applies to the new job.

Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson met in Detroit with United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock to discuss the administration plan.

The meeting with Nixon was the last in a series Nixon has had to collect views on what is needed after the present freeze ends Nov. 13. Previous sessions have been with labor, business and farm leaders.

Meanwhile, Cost of Living Council director Arnold R. Weber said up to 25 cases of alleged violations of the freeze may be sent to the Justice Department for legal action.

Mideast . . . Charges by Both Sides

By United Press International
Israel said Egyptian missile batteries on the west bank of the Suez Canal opened fire on Israeli warplanes today and Israeli troops returned the fire in another sharp deterioration of the cease-fire in the Middle East.

It was the second consecutive day in which there were reports of missile attacks on Israeli aircraft over the Suez Canal. An Israeli propeller-driven stratu-cruiser transport plane was shot down Friday with loss of seven of its eight crewmen.

The Israeli announcement in Tel Aviv said none of the warplanes was hit and that all were flying over the Israeli side of the canal.

"Israeli forces returned the fire," the communique said.

Both military sources and Israel Broadcasting, the national radio station, had described the canal front as tense following Friday's downing of the Israeli transport. But officials had indicated no Israeli reprisal was planned.

The announcement of the latest incident said: "At approximately 11 a.m. (5 a.m. EDT) a number of missiles were fired from Egyptian positions at Israeli Air Force planes which flew over Israeli territory east of the Suez Canal.

"Israeli forces returned the fire. The aircraft were not hit." Military spokesmen said there were no more details immediately available.

Less than an hour before the announcement, an Israel broadcasting commentator had called the downing of the transport plane, killing seven crewmen, an isolated incident that did not necessarily require reprisal.

Meanwhile, diplomatic sources in Cairo said Egypt will try to get the U.N. General Assembly to endorse Middle East peace envoy Gunnar Jarring's initiative of last February for a settlement between Egypt and Israel.

In Israel, Egypt's shooting down of an unarmed Israeli transport plane Friday brought charges that the attack was premeditated. The Israelis said the destruction of the plane was the most serious incident in the 13 months of comparative peace since the Aug. 7, 1970 cease-fire.

"We have no doubt this was a premeditated act," said Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan in a television address to the nation Friday night.

Dayan's remarks came shortly after word of Egypt's diplomatic plans in the United Nations.

The sources in Cairo said

Egypt has officially asked the Assembly to take up the Middle East crisis after Nov. 15 and asked both Secretary General Thant and Jarring to submit reports on how Egyptian and Israeli positions developed since the 1967 Middle East War.

Jarring's Feb. 8, 1971 proposal suggested that Israel withdraw its troops from all of the Sinai Desert to the old international boundary in return for an Egyptian agreement to conclude a peace pact guaranteeing freedom of Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Egypt accepted the proposal in a reply Feb. 15 to Jarring. Israel messaged Jarring 12 days later refusing to withdraw to the prewar frontier.

Diplomatic sources said Egypt hoped that the Thant and Jarring reports would lay before the world the contrast between what Cairo considers a "positive, flexible" attitude on its part toward peaceful settlement and a "negative, intransigent" position Israel has taken.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad will arrive in New York Tuesday and has planned immediate meetings with Thant, Jarring and fellow foreign ministers before the General Assembly convenes.

Turning Students on to the World of Ideas

For Montessori, Headstart Is Very Old Hat

WOODSTOCK
Much of the ferment going on in American education today revolves around giving children an earlier, sounder start. But many of the ideas just now beginning to change the entire concept of education for young children in the U.S. were developed as long ago as 60 years by Dr. Maria Montessori, Italy's first woman physician.

HEADSTART? Montessori has always maintained over those six decades that the first six years of a child's life are the most absorptive. UNGRADED CLASSES? Montessori's principles have always allowed each child to develop at his own pace in a class where his peers offer inspiration and assistance. NEW CURRICULUM AND TECHNIQUES? Montessori has long stressed learning materials that are auto-educative, sensory and stimulating. NEW ROLES FOR TEACHERS? In a Montessori classroom, the teacher is observer-catalyst, allows the children to almost teach themselves.

Now, a new Montessori School has opened in Woodstock at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church. To be non-profit, state certified, and geared to children from ages two-and-a-half to six, it is headed up by University of Michigan graduate, Mrs. Jessie Berchenko.

Turned Off

A former teacher at White Plains High School and in Harlem, she has left the "traditional, public schools," she says, "because I felt that too many of the students were turned off from the world of ideas, creativity, discovery and self-expression."

Seeking a better alternative to educating the young, she found it, she feels, in the Montessori philosophy. With a degree from the Internationale Montessori Training Center in Philadelphia, she went on to teach in a Montessori school and at Harcum Junior College. Here she found that most of her college students were nursery and public school teachers, many of whom left public education for what they felt were the "happier" climes of Montessori philosophy.

At the Woodstock school she'll now direct, methods and materials used in the classroom will represent an evolution of what children really want in a classroom, with the approach entirely child-centered. Based on Montessori's philosophy that the child wants to learn and make order of the world around him, the new area school will attempt to help him do so.

And it is a far from impossible task when one considers that a child so young as three has already taught HIMSELF two of the most difficult tasks in life—how to walk and how to speak his native language.

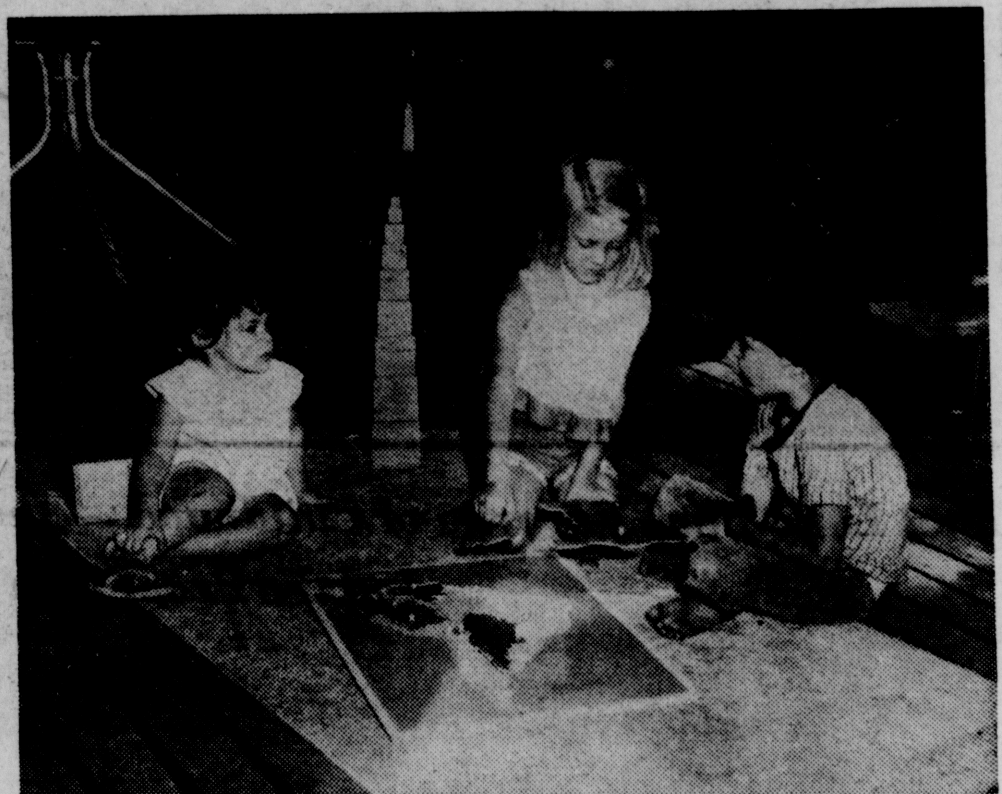

Sensitive Periods

Woodstock director Berchenko points to Italian doctor Montessori's genius as an educator and scientist by noting her discovery of what she called "sensitive periods." Those would be the special times in a child's development when he is INTERNALLY ready to teach himself a new skill. Just as there are such periods for walking

From 'Donkey Serenade' to 'The Impossible Dream'

HYDE PARK

That most award-winning musical of them all, MAN OF LA MANCHA—a classic of incredible dimensions—takes over the stage at Hyde Park Playhouse this Monday, Sept. 20.

The musical, which puts Don Quixote in a musical drama, only recently closed on Broadway after a six year run and more than 2,000 performances. It captured all of the major theatre awards, including five TONY awards.

The score of "La Mancha" includes several modern masterpieces, the most notable of the songs being "The Impossible Dream." Recorded over and over and over again, it has now established itself as a classic.

National Tour Kickoff

The production coming to the Playhouse will be starting its National Tour in Hyde Park; will continue on to Nyack, Boston, Washington, D. C. and other cities across the nation. That this will be the fourth national tour of "Man of La Mancha" proves without question the show's vast appeal and popularity.

Playing the Cervantes and Don Quixote roles in the Hyde Park production will be Allan Jones, star of many Broadway plays and films. While under contract to Metro Goldwyn Mayer, he starred in "Night at the Opera" with the zany Marx Brothers, "Showboat," "The Great Victor Herbert," "Magic in Music," and his most popular film, "The Firefly," in which he sang Donkey Serenade. His rendition of the song has become a show business legend and the third largest selling record in the entire history of R.C.A.

His many Broadway credits include "The Merry Widow," "The Student Prince," "Desert Song," "Guys and Dolls," "Silk Stockings," "Paint Your Wagon," and "The Fantasticks," among others.

To one generation, Jones is remembered as the competent co-star of Jeanette MacDonald; to another, he is known as the father of Jack Jones, one of today's most popular ballad singers.

Superlative and Spectacular

"Man of La Mancha" is one of the most superlative shows ever staged; boasts spectacular music and choreography along stage designs. No character in all of literature has been so honored or so copiously quoted as the Man of La Mancha.

The Hyde Park production will recreate one of the most entertaining classics of all time. This smash Broadway musical will run at the area Playhouse for one week only, Monday, Sept. 20 to Saturday, Sept. 25. On the schedule during the week, in addition to evening shows, are a Thursday matinee and two shows on Saturday. For reservations, call 229-9141.

Ulster County Art, From Vanderlyn's History Paintings to Robin's 'Sculptural' Furniture

STONE RIDGE Visual Arts at Ulster County Community College. "Ulster County: The Arts and the Artist" is the theme of the 1971-72 Art Series which will be presented by the Department of Visual Arts at Ulster County Community College. The series will go on view in a new, enlarged Visual Arts Gallery in John Vanderlyn Hall, a new building just completed on the college's Stone Ridge campus. The Art Series has been designed by Professor Ruth Mur-off, chairman of the Department of Visual Arts, to review the past achievements in the arts and to exemplify the best of the current trends of the arts in Ulster County.

A Colonial Talent

The series will feature works by the famous John Vanderlyn, an internationally renowned colonial artist who was born and died in Kingston.

It also will include works by Barbara White, of High Falls; sculptural furniture by Stephen Robin, of Woodstock; drawings and paintings by the late Edward Millman, who lived in Woodstock; organic paintings by Reginald Wilson, of Woodstock; ceramic sculpture and pottery by Winn Nadel, of Saugerties; etchings and prints by Barbara Neustadt, of Woodstock; and sculpture by Alice Dunbar of Lomontville.

There also will be an exhibition of art works by the late Jenne Magafan of Woodstock.

One Meet-the-Artist program, entitled "Festive Time in Ulster County," is planned for 1:40 p.m. Dec. 14.

Barbara Neustadt, of Woodstock, is scheduled to give a lecture-demonstration on "Printmaking" at 1:40 p.m. April 18.

Series and Dates

The Art Series is as follows:
Oct. 4-29 — "Historical Perspective in Ulster County," a selection of drawings and paintings by John Vanderlyn; and wood engravings and gravures of American scenes and landscapes by Macowin Tuttle.

Nov. 1-24 — "Designer-Craftsmen in Ulster County," supergraphics and color wall paintings by Barbara White, High Falls; sculptural furniture in walnut and oak by Stephen Robin, Woodstock; and contemporary jewelry in gold and silver by Tom and Angela Ambrosina, New Paltz.

Nov. 29-Dec. 24 — "Experimentation in Ulster County," experimentation in color, texture, light and sound by young designers.

Dec. 13-22 — "Season's Greetings II in Ulster County," annual Yule holiday exhibition and sale of works.

And on into Spring

Jan. 10-Feb. 4 — "A Personal Art Collection in Ulster County," paintings by Ulster County artists from the contemporary collection of a Woodstock collector.

Feb. 7-29 — "Portrait of an Artist in Ulster County," drawings and paintings by Edward Millman, who lived in Woodstock; organic paintings by Reginald Wilson, Woodstock; and ceramic sculpture and pottery by Winn Nadel, Saugerties.

March 6-29 — "A Retrospective Exhibition in Ulster County," survey of prints, paintings and drawings by the late Jenne Magafan.

April 10-May 12 — "Prints and Sculpture in Ulster County," color etchings and embossed collograph prints by Barbara Neustadt, Woodstock; sculpture in wood, stone, metal and clay by Alice Dunbar, Lomontville.

May 15-June 30 — "Annual Student Exhibition in Ulster County," exhibit on academic year's work by UCCC students in design, painting, drawing, advertising and sculpture.

The new Visual Arts Gallery is open during regular college hours, Monday through Friday. There is no admission charge.

DEATH OF JANE McCREA, painted by early Kingston artist, John Vanderlyn, in 1804, is one of the few Vanderlyn works depicting a well-known, authenticated page of history. Miss McCrea was enroute to meet her sweetheart in 1777 when a group of Indians shot her and took her scalp for reward from the English. An all-Vanderlyn show will open the Art Series in a new building on UCCC's Stone Ridge campus during the fall semester.

BACK TO SCHOOL and smiling at the prospect? "Sure," say Robin Springtime and Jason Buhals as they hold high a sign advertising their new school on lawn of the A-frame church that will serve as their classroom this year.

For Montessori

and speaking, there are also sensitive times when a child is ready for writing, reading, music, mathematics, refinement of body movements, and the senses of taste, touch, smell and sight.

Toward these periods, the Montessori environment is always adapted. The classroom itself is filled with activities which children do singly or as a group. The teacher may show a youngster how to use a piece of material, but then leaves the child free to explore and learn from the material at his own speed and in his own time. And, because the materials were essentially designed by children themselves, says Mrs. Berchenko, "they love to work with them."

Materials, however, are only a part of the classroom. Art, dance, music, stories, animals, field trips, guest speakers and outdoor recreation are all part of the curriculum. Based on humanism and constantly evolving, the Montessori philosophy is always able to incorporate new ideas in education.

Neither rigidity nor permissiveness dominates the classroom. Children move freely, are not restricted to assigned seats, are encouraged to work with any materials they know how to use, and are only helped in their exploration of the materials when the instructor sees frustration or confusion surfacing.

Greater Self-Confidence

Frustration is easily overcome with Montessori materials since they are self-corrective, allowing a child to work at his own pace and correct his own mistakes without adult intervention. "This," says Mrs. Berchenko, "leads to greater self-confidence and independence for the student."

She has seen timid children blossom, hyper-active youngsters find direction, and kids of all types further develop their own unique personalities.

For parents who believe that all children are innately creative, the Woodstock Montessori School should be a welcome addition to the area. It will stress refinement of the senses, color, proportion, shape, size, height, sound, distance, and body and hand movements to allow students to better express their individual creativity. And the proof of that would seem to be in the interesting sculptures, message murals on pollution, poetic essays, and fascinating plays Montessori students have become known for producing.

The new Woodstock school (it's called THE CHILDREN'S HOUSE and caters to the two-and-a-half to six-year-old age group) joins more than 1,000 Montessori schools in the U.S. and others on all continents. It meets five days a week during the traditional school year and will be offered on an all-day basis to the older youngsters. In time, plans call for classes on an elementary school level for ages seven to 12.

Sixty years of existence have proved that the Montessori method works as well in the ghetto as it does in Scarsdale. It can be expected to adapt immediately to Ulster County. If you'd like more information on the Woodstock Montessori School, call Mrs. Berchenko at 679-9008 or 679-9643.

Really 'Regional' In Musical Bounty For Season Series

KINGSTON famed dancer and choreographer, Andre Eglevsky, as "vocally magnificent" by the New York Times. This wife of a conductor, mother of five, and international star has been engaged to sing with the accompaniment of the Philharmonic in November.

Early October will bring musical bounty to Ulster County along with autumn's crisp, clear days and landscapes of brilliant red, gold and copper. For early October is when the 1971-72 series of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic begins with performances here in Kingston and in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. It's the first time in the history of our award-winning regional orchestra that the entire series will be performed in each of the three major cities of the Hudson Valley. That fact leads many to believe that the orchestra's varied program throughout the valley reflects the Philharmonic's regional quality more truly.

This year's series offers a whole new concept in programs: three performances of ballet, oratorio and opera. There'll be an impressive guest list, as usual, including soloists of the year will be Lili Kraus, Lili Draus, Maureen Forrester, Michael Rabin and Lorin Hollander. But, in addition, the orchestra will accompany the Eglevsky Ballet Company, the Community Mixed Chorus and the Metropolitan Opera Studio.

Dazzling Dancers
In October, the Eglevsky Ballet troupe, directed by Canadian contralto, Maureen

Forrester, has been described as "vocally magnificent" by the New York Times. This wife of a conductor, mother of five, and international star has been engaged to sing with the accompaniment of the Philharmonic in November.

December Program
Michael Rabin is described as a "violinist of phenomenal gifts" and as "one of the ten top U.S. concert artists." He will perform with the Philharmonic in early December, with Claude Montaux conducting the French program. These four concerts make up only half of the eight concert series. In January, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and the Community Mixed Chorus will perform HAYDN: The Creation. In February, Gerardo Ribeiro, the Portuguese winner of the Young Artists' Competition, will play solo fiddle with the orchestra. Lorin Hollander, acclaimed pianist, will perform in March. In April, the Metropolitan Opera Studio will present ROSSINI: Barber of Seville with the accompaniment of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

For ticket information in Ulster, call 338-1172; in Dutchess, call 454-1222; in Orange, call 534-3281.

A NEW CONCEPT in Programming is being presented by the Hudson Valley Philharmonic this season with its Artist, and Prestige Series. The latter will include a ballet performance.

A Courtroom Drama Is Fall Offering For '90 Milers'

NEW PALTZ What does the night of Jan. 16 have in common with the night of Nov. 18?

Those in the know will remember that it was on the night of Jan. 16 that Bjorn Faulkner was allegedly murdered, with the result that his former secretary, Karen Andre, stands accused of the crime. And the night of Nov. 18? Well, that's opening night for Ninety Miles Off Broadway's "trial" of Karen Andre as she faces the charge of murdering Bjorn Faulkner.

"The Night of January 16th" is an intriguing court room drama by famed writer Ayn Rand, and it'll be playing for three nights at New Paltz High School Auditorium this fall—Nov. 18, 19 and 20. Sitting in the director's chair will be Bud Grosshans, who directed numerous college and community theatre productions prior to joining the staff of the Speech Department at the State University of New York at New Paltz last year. "The Night of January 16th" is one of his favorite dramatic pieces and he's staged it previously and successfully with other community theatrical groups.

To complete the cast for the play, Grosshans needs 12 men and 10 women. Auditions are slated Sept. 28, 29 and 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the New Paltz Middle School Auditorium. Choice roles include two lawyers, the defendant, the victim's wife, and a gangster. Other parts open are a private, policeman, judge, and witnesses for the defense and prosecution. Everyone's invited to attend tryouts and compete for parts in this suspenseful courtroom drama.

Better Reserve Now for Mame, Cello and Chayefsky

KINGSTON

The new theatrical season locally will have its official opening this week with the start of the 1971-72 Coach House Players associate membership drive.

Held each year, the drive features special rates for a season's subscription to all three scheduled amateur productions. Student rates are even less.

As any Coach House member would hasten to assure, the shows are "amateur" in only one sense: the cast receives no pay. The actors and actresses as well as the enormous behind-the-scenes crew, are professional in drive, dedication and devotion to the theatre, as is the able direction of Bill Skilling.

Seats by Mail

Entering its 22nd year, the local group this season offers still another innovation in ticket-buying ease: you specify the night, send the price and a self-addressed stamped envelope, and you'll get reserved seats by mail for all three productions. That's the word from Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fletcher, associate membership chairmen.

The rollicking, roaring 20's musical, "Mame" begins the season on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18, 19 and 20. It starred Rosalind Russell in the straight play and Angela Lansbury in the musical. Paddy Chayefsky's compassionate drama, "Middle of the Night" lights up the winter scene on Feb. 24, 25 and 26. The play's warm and human story details the plight of a 55-year-old widower in love with a 24-year-old girl.

One of the hits of the 1964-65 Broadway season, the contemporary lampoon, "Absence of a Cello" will be the final offering. It entertains the audience with the frantic efforts of a family of privacy-loving intellectuals to disguise themselves as a set of ardent "groupers," in order to help the head of the house get a desirable job with a big corporation.

Although this week marks the official start of the membership campaign, there is a large group of fortunate play-goers who already have reserved their seats. These are the persons who attended last season's second and third productions, and filled out an advance reservation slip for this season's tickets. This week, they will receive a notice telling them their tickets are available. By sending their remittance, they will assure themselves of keeping their advance reservations.

However, there are still plenty of good seats left for all three nights, says Fletcher, the associate membership chairman. "But," he confided, "there have been so many advanced reservations, that it would be wise to indicate a second choice as to which evening you would prefer." The J. Watson Bailey School, where the shows are staged, seats a total of 1,800 persons for a three-night run.

Assisting the Fletchers on the drive are Mrs. Michael Boyle and Mrs. William Kopf.

A season ticket is $6 for adults and $4 for students through high school. Checks may be sent to Victor Fletcher, 24 Village Drive, Saugerties, and must be made out to Coach House Players, Inc. Specify the evenings preferred or alternate, and whether you are securing a student ticket. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. No unpaid reservations will be held after Oct. 15. Tickets will be distributed in October.

Anthony Newman In Double Bill

POUGHKEEPSIE

Vassar College music department will open its concert season by presenting Anthony Newman, organist, in both a lecture and recital. The lecture will be held in Skinner Recital Hall at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday (SEPT. 21) and the recital will be held at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday (SEPT. 22) in the Chapel, both on the college's Poughkeepsie campus.

Newman will speak on "Problems of Performance Practice in Baroque Music" at the Tuesday lecture, and will perform the following evening a program of Bach and Liszt, including the latter's "Fantasia and Fugue on the chorale, Ad nos ad salutarem undam."

Newman is on the faculty of the Juilliard School, and is also currently on the faculty of Dartmouth College. A distinguished organist, he is also in great demand as a harpsichordist. His recordings for Columbia Records on both instruments have been praised by critics, possibly owing to his unique and fresh approach to the instruments in general, and to Baroque music in particular.

Both events are open to the public without charge.

MOVIES

The Wild Rovers

Now playing at Kingston's Mayfair, THE WILD ROVERS is a period Western adventure, filmed on location in Arizona.

And those involved in its filming seem to have been aiming at a cross between Easy Rider, Midnight Cowboy and Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid.

It has two top drawing cards in the seasoned acting of oldhand performer William Holden (who's looking all of his 53 years these days) and the polished by "Love Story" talent of young actor Ryan O'Neal. Holden plays an aging cow puncher named Ross Bodine, and the plot is embodied in one of his lines: "...you show me a young cowboy or an old cowboy or an in-between cowboy that's got more than a few dollars in his poke an' I'll show you a cowboy who's stopped bein' a cowboy an' started bein' a bank robber."

We are to believe, then, that the line that separates cowboys from bank robbers is quite fine, and the question posed is what makes a good man become an outlaw. And so we have Holden, O'Neal, Karl Malden and others at odds with each other and the ways of justice in the old West.

The story is a familiar one, but it is colorful as it centers on two hard-working cowboys, basically naive and honest, who casually step into lawlessness in pursuit of a dream. There's a grim conclusion to the cowboys' adventure, but to say more than that would give away the ending beforehand—and that's never done when shootouts and escapes are involved.

Doc

Here comes "Doc" Holliday again, but—like, man—has he ever changed! He's still covered with prairie dust and slinging his gun around at the O.K. Corral—but he is no longer the admired hero of western myth long celebrated in dime novels and movies and on TV.

As he emerges in "Doc," the western that rewrites the legend currently at Kingston's Community, he's a bad news hombre who cusses a lot, in his attempts to outperform murders on the run, and whose moral code is so low he retires frequently to an opium den to forget it all.

Many people will probably not take kindly to this far-out western. But it's that very far-out flavor that makes it fairly interesting to long-time, long-barreled six-gun fans like us.

If you missed actor Stacy Keach in his several Broadway successes, here's your chance to see him act up a storm. As a newer, swingier version of "Doc" Holliday, he gives a depth to the character in spite of problems posed by the plot, often weird at best.

And, since this reviewer is an avid reader of columnist Pete Hamill, the film had a special lure in the fact that Hamill wrote the screenplay. Admittedly, in his eyes, such former greats as Kate Elder, Wyatt Earp and Holliday are more tarnished than admirable. Faye Dunaway as Kate makes it clear she was once a lady of the evening; Harris Yullin as Earp is a craven politician with no belief in justice; and Keach as Holliday has moral squint.

Still, "Doc" is something different and—bad or good according to critical tastes or audience response—it's interesting enough to start controversy at the office or over the breakfast table.

Evel Knievel

You can't keep a daredevil down, particularly when it's "Evel Knievel," the world's top motorcycle stuntman. As played by George Hamilton in this film, now featured at the local Sunset Drive-In, as well as Hyde Park Drive-In, the story depicts the life and death defying heroics of this living legend.

Hamilton, never one of our screen favorites, is surprisingly good as Evel. His characterization is that of an exciting and unsettling madcap, an eccentric and egocentric performer whose vigor and verve carries him from the ignominy of a Montana mining town to the cheers and applause of the biggest U.S. arenas. A fearless fool, marred and scarred by the bone-shattering spills he suffers himself (the real life Evel has one leg permanently crippled and held together with metal pins), he has painfully earned the billing of America's King of the Stuntmen.

Sue Lyon of "Lolita" fame portrays his wife, and footage includes Evel's 50-yard leap over the fountains at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, where he crashed on the way down and broke his back, and a similar 50-yard jump over 19 Dodge autos at Ontario Motor Speedway in California, which is his present record.

Evel also appears in the film. Hamilton is a competent enough motorcyclist and does manage one screen stunt, but it's the real Evel who is shown performing: no one, in his right mind, could duplicate those incredible jumps.

Other Choices

SHAFT. This black-oriented movie, now playing at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema and Poughkeepsie's Overlook Drive-In, has universal appeal. Its story of a gutsy, black detective (ably played by Richard Roundtree) creates as much excitement among whites as among black audiences. There's excellent, light, no message entertainment here as private eye John Shaft outwits all those blood-thirsty people who either want to see him win or get beaten.

SUMMER OF 42. Now at the Rosendale Theatre, this delightfully nostalgic film of three young boys summering on an island shortly after the beginning of World War II. Often funny, often bittersweet, the story pushes them into manhood after an encounter with an "older woman" of 22. One of the best of the year.

THE ANDROMEDA STRAIN. Now at Red Hook's Lyceum, a taut, tense science-fiction thriller that seems all too real in its semi-documentary tale. David Wayne and fellow scientists strive to isolate a microbe from outer space in time to save the earth from destruction. One of the finest sci-fi films in many a moon.

WILLIAM HOLDEN as Ross Bodine and Ryan O'Neal as Frank Post in "WILD ROVERS," the movie set in the West and now playing at Kingston's Mayfair. Story deals with two cowhands who decide to change their lot by robbing a bank.

JOHN SHAFT of private eye fame (Richard Roundtree) bursts into a Greenwich Village hotel hideout through a window, blasting away as he frees kidnap victim Marcy Jones. Scene's from "SHAFT," that dandy movie about the syndicate and the Harlem mob now on screen at both Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema and Poughkeepsie's Overlook Drive-In.

POTPOURRI

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

For Millstream Motel varied menu in Ulster County patrons: the Rapoport of (178 selections—we know 'cause Woodstock are STILL in process of enlargin' restaurant.... there are 16-cooks-in-the-section by section. Without a doubt the most owner Sol and son have somehin' else brewin'. (And you'll be FIRST to know 'bout it, soon as it comes to pass.)

If we didn't see it, we wouldn't believe it. To see-for-sure each diner's perfectly pleased, proprietor Sol paces floor from table to table like an expectant father. And that's a lotta man walkin' 'round in them-thar boots. Big gent that he is, Sol's his own best advertisement.

There's quality plus quantity at unbelievable L-O-W prices at Millstream. Bct all's so good, it's hard to draw the line where gourmet stops and glutton starts.

Pizza business operated by son Mitch was in plannin' for more than two years. Dough is made on premises.... pizza dough, that is. There are 36 varieties including caviar, octopus, snails, escargo, and (would you believe it) squid! (Believe it.)

As for the proprietor: "Sol" shines even if "sun" doesn't. All he needs is the satisfied smile of a well-fed customer.

Mrs. Sophie Palkowics of Rifton just celebrated another birthday; she had one 'round same time last year. But an octogenarian who looks as chipper as Mrs. P. should not only reveal the years but boast 'em.

Daughter Sofia and son-in-law Herb (Reuner... of the monument Reuners) treated her to dinner at Deanie's. Seems Mrs. P. had such great times there for number 83, she decided to return for numebr 84. Flo O'Dell helped celebrate occasion by ticklin' the ivories to all Mrs. P.'s pet pop tunes; even Deanie himself offered congrats.

A grandmama who's really "with it," Mrs. P. has been doin' the summer theatres... among other things. Earlier this season, daughter Sofia took her to Hyde Park matinee starring Noel Harrison. Considering her years, one would think she'd be a fan of Daddy Rex. Not so! We repeat: this is a mod grandma. Mrs. P. thinks Noel Harrison is (and we quote) "a doll." And we think SHE is.

Albany Avenue's Evergreen Inn's offerin' "Count Italo," continental pianist direct from New York Hilton Hotel, four days a week.

A recording artist with RCA Victor, The Count's appeared at finest supper clubs and cabarets in South America plus New York's Delmonico's; Gideon Putnam in Saratoga Springs; Steak Pit, Paramus, N.J.; as well as Sondrestrom Air Base in Greenland. And that's quite an itinerary.

Count Italo is highly flexible, from concert hall to pop; performs with rare electronic keyboard instrument that simulates sonic sounds of varied instruments, be they brass, reed, strings, woodwind.

Egads! How the time does fly. Three years've passed since "Potpourri" went to press for first time.

Accordin' to Hallmark, third year anniversaries mean leather, crystal or glass. Most likely our Managing Editor will gift us with something leather. May we suggest a wallet (preferably 'stuffed'). Leather's more lasting. Glass is so-o-o perishable!

FREEMAN ADS BRING RESULTS

ERNESTLY SPEAKING

THANK YOU

I beg your indulgence for reference to an event which ordinarily would have no place herein; but I am constrained to use this medium to broadcast the thanks of the Guido family for the hundreds of personally-expressed condolences on the passing of my father, Jerome Guido. There just isn't any other way I could reach all of you. I always loved and respected my father, but I am prouder than ever to realize how many of his fellowmen will remember what was 82 years of a beautiful human being. Again . . . our thanks.

O-O-O-OOPS DEPT.

It just shows how easy it can be to get your facts mixed and print a statement that's as wrong as a three dollar bill. A couple of Saturdays ago I voiced my disappointment that The Daily Freeman's 100th Anniversary Issue was coming out about the middle of September, because if it had come about the middle of October, I could hitch this "colyum's" First Anniversary (which will be the October 16th effort) to the 100th Anniversary Issue. (Would that be a 100-to-1 parlay?)

Well, my crimson-tinted puss comes from the gentle reminder from "Susie" Podmayersky that The Daily Freeman's 100th Anniversary issue actually will come out on October 18th . . . which is about as near to "Ernestly Speaking's" Anniversary as I could expect the Calendar to make it. "Susie" suggested that what she told me was that the deadline for ads would be mid-September, and I made the wrong assumption.

While I'm properly abashed at making such an obvious bungle, I'm more concerned about something really important; I imagine that's how most of the fallacies, the bigotries, the wrong-o ideas, the havoc-making splits between people are generated . . . by someone shooting off his mouth before the truth has penetrated the area between his ears. I'm glad my faulty reporting was about a relatively innocuous matter; I'll try to listen better hereafter.

By the way, Congratulations in advance to The Daily Freeman on its 100th Anniversary Issue . . . and to "Ernestly Speaking" for (hopefully) reaching even one year!

I CAN'T RESIST

using the above reference to faulty reporting to chide all those good citizens who have refrained from enjoying the pleasures of Dinner at Roberto's because of the faulty reporting of other people; especially because the faulty reporting is usually second-hand . . . by someone who hasn't even dined here and probably misconstrued the reporting of someone else.

I refer, of course, to the unholy number of people who tell other people (as if they knew) that "Roberto's has great food, but is high priced!"; you can bet me that whoever says that either has never dined at Roberto's, or doesn't know how to add. At the risk of being repetitious (and I intend to hammer at this point until I get it over) I want to illustrate what I'm talking about:

Let's take our lowest priced Dinner, which happens to be Fillet of Sole Vin Blanc, priced at $5.50, and compare it, item for item, with anything else around. The menus of the restaurants around this territory which you (the public) would rate as being in anywhere near Roberto's class (don't compare cider with champagne) gets from $3.00 to $3.75 a la carte for genuine Fillet of Sole, irrespective of places where Fillet of Flounder masquerades as the real thing. (I can just hear Roberto's bellow if anyone ever suggested that to him!) But let's not worry about those menus—they give you nothing with the entree.

The table d'hote menus list "Fillet of Sole Dinner" from $3.95 to $5.00. And on the face of it, these prices seem cheaper than ours. But let's put our education to work . . . let's see if we remember how to add. On all those menus, there are a couple of little hitches; seems that any appetizer you really want, like shrimps, baked clams, or other "luxury" appetizers, cost EXTRA. "Baked Clams $1.25 extra"; "Shrimp Cocktail, $1.50 extra"; "French Onion Soup, 75c extra." For Dessert, almost anything except pie and ice cream can be "extra." I've even seen menus within an easy ride from here that charge extra for salads or vegetables.

Now, let's take a fix. Somebody tells you "Roberto's is high priced . . . the Fish Dinner costs $5.50." But they don't tell you that with the Dinner you not only get YOUR CHOICE OF PRE-DINNER COCKTAIL you get your choice of Appetizer or soup (even SHRIMP COCKTAIL) and your choice of Dessert (even Rum Cake Roberto, Coupe Melba or Meringue Glace) at NO EXTRA COST. So, let's add: Take the lowest priced Fillet of Sole Dinner around say $3.95. Add at least (I'm laughing!) $1.00 for your favorite Cocktail or Highball; at least $1.00 extra for a Shrimp Cocktail . . . and never mind the rest of the extra touches . . . you're already up to $5.95 (against our $5.50.)

And the same holds good on every one of our dinners . . . because the same epicurean extras are yours at no extra charge with any entree you order . . . from the $5.50 Fillet of Sole to the regal Chateaubriand at $18.00 for two (and try that one on your comparison computer!)

I rest my case. I forget exactly which TV series featured the detective who always said: "The facts, ma'am . . . just the facts" . . . but that's what I also say: "The facts . . . just the facts." You get the facts by adding 2 and 2 and getting 4 . . . not 3 or 5.

MY APOLOGIES

to all the good folks who filled out TEMPO sheets lately for not having their items printed this week . . . especially to all our friends from across the river for not having gotten our monthly "colyum" into the Poughkeepsie Journal; I'll be back on the ball for next week's "colyum," and will start catching up with all the activities . . . including the "Saturday Soiree, Shivarree and Sing-Along Session," to give it its full and well-deserved title

Acorn Hill's Sunday Events

KRUMVILLE
Bernard Stollman, owner of ESP Disc, has again extended an open invitation to all musical artists and performers in this area to his weekly musical happenings at Acorn Hill House in Krumville.

The regularly slated events, every Sunday from 2 to 7 p.m., offer an opportunity for singers and instrumentalists to perform singly or together, and to discuss mutual interests. While all musicians are welcome, spectators can be accommodated by invitation only.

ESP is primarily a showcase for recording work by relatively obscure artists. The company has released albums by The Fugs, Ornette Coleman, Pearls Before Swine, and others, including one on which the featured singer is the infamous Charles Manson.

Efrem's Parents

It's unlikely that any television star has such illustrious dual parentage as Efrem Zimbalist Jr. of ABC's long-running "The FBI" series. The father, whose name he bears, is the retired famed concert violinist, and his mother was the late Alma Gluck, one of the Metropolitan Opera's most famous singers early in the century.

Before ESP took over Acorn Hill House, it was the site of a previous recording studio and creative musical activity in the past, including the recording of an album by the late Jimi Hendrix during a summer he spent in Woodstock prior to his performance at the much-publicized White Lake rock festival.
